For Indiana and Illinois—Threatening weather, with rain or snow; colder; northerly winds.

WEATHER.

U. S. Departmentof Agriculture—Weather Bureau.

Toledo, O., 8 a. m., Feb. 19,'92.

Local forecast for to-day and to-morrow: Continued rains and warm weather, probably changing to snow to-morrow night.

The "low" reported in Colorado yesterday morning has developed cyclonic form and is now moving northestward. It is a shallow "low" but will intensify as it moves northward, and help to lower the steepness of the "high" over Lake Superior and reduce the effect of the cold weather accompanying it as well as postpone its advent.

Another "low" now developing in Montana is liable to follow so close on its predecessor in the southwest as to appear as one storm.

The weather throughout the country is warmer and threatening, with rains in the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys. The cold wave advanced only to Sault Ste. Marie. The lowest temperature this morning was reported at St. Vincent, where it was 22 degrees below; in the Ohio valley at the same time it was from 40 degrees to 50 degrees above. The lowest at Toledo this morning was 32 degrees. The highest yesterday was 44 degrees. Total rainfall since yesterday morning was .25 in.

AS SEEN ON THE OCEAN.

The Sun Spots Witnessed While Crossing the Deep.

New York, Feb. 19.—The Dutch steamer Spaarndam arrived at quarantine early this morning from Rotterdam. She brings 57 cabin and 430 steerage passengers. Of the latter 76 are Russions. The baggage of the Russians was thoroughly disinfected and the vessel allowed to proceed after a detention of two hours.

Capt. Boujer reports that on Saturday, February 13, while taking the noon observation he saw a large solar spot on the southwest section of the sun. Looking through the ship's telescope other spots were clearly visible on the northwest section.

He says the sky was very clear and transparent and it was noticed on the following day that the spots had moved more to the west. On the third day the sky became overcast, obstructing further observations.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Observations at the Naval Observatory made by Prof. Edgar Frisbie showed that the large spot hitherto observed on the sun which covered a space equal to one-sixteenth of the sun's surface, or an area of 140,000 miles long by 100,000 wide, has by some operation been broken into about 20 small spots. In addition to this other spots have appeared which are situated a vast distance from the original spot and are evidently totally independent from it. This new development on the sun's surface has attracted the attention of astronomers at the observatory and will be closely observed by them.

THE FIRST REGULAR SPRING STYLE HATS SHOWN THIS SEASON ON EXHIBITION

Saturday, February 20th.

Opening Day of the "Dunlap Hats" Announced Next Week.

C. A. HARLEY & CO.

NO FREE COINAGE.

Such is the Opinion in Washington.

A Caucus of the Democratic Members

To be Held the Latter Part of Next Week.

Action on the Bland Bill is to be Postponed.

The Majority of the Lower House of Congress Getting in Shape to Give the Country Some Much Needed Tariff Legislation.

New York, Feb. 19.—A Washington special to the Herald says: Free silver coinage is dead for this session, if not for the next.

This is the opinion of Representative Cable, of Illinois, and events in the house seem to justify it.

Mr. Cable, along with Mr. Harter, of Ohio, and Mr. Sherman Hoar, of Massachusetts, has been circulating a petition asking for a caucus next Thursday evening and had a good opportunity to learn the views of democratic members from all sections.

The petition which Mr. Cable and the other gentlemen were circulating is addressed to Judge Holman, the chairman of the democratic caucus committee, and invites him to call a caucus on next Thursday evening to consider resolutions declaring it the duty of the democratic members of the Fifty-second congress to defer any definite action on the subject of free silver coinage until the question of its wisdom and justice is distinctly made in the elections of 1892.

More than enough signatures were readily obtained to hold the caucus, and Mr. Harter is confident that the proposed resolution will be adopted.

This would settle the silver question for the time being by the action of the democratic representatives alone, and would leave the republicans no opportunity to take any share in the settlement of the question. As to the action of the democrats of the house on the subject next winter, Mr. Cable says that will depend a great deal on the temper of the people as shown by the November elections.

The members of the house will have an opportunity, after the session closes, to go before the people and discuss the question with them, and will be in better condition to reflect their views when they return next November.

"You believe then that free silver is dead for this session and probably for the next?"

"I do," he replied.

The resolution referred to is as follows:

"To Hon. William S. Holman, Chairman:

"Dear Sir—We ask you to call a meeting of the democratic members of this house for Thursday evening, February 25, at 7:30 o'clock, to consider two resolutions which will be presented. They are as follows:

"Resolved, That we are in favor of the continued use of both gold and silver as money, and that we are unalterably opposed to any legislation which will drive either metal out of general circulation.

"Resolved, That in justice to the democratic party and with due consideration for the general business, industrial and financial interests of the nation, we deem it the duty of the democratic members of the Fifty-second congress to defer any definite action on the subject of free coinage until the question of its wisdom and justice is distinctly made in the elections of 1892. We ask you, further, to invite the democratic members of the senate to this conference."

In reference to the call, Mr. Harter said: "Many of our democratic members begin to see what a howling farce it is to declaim against the rascally class legislation of the McKinley act and then legislate to give the same class of advantages to the silver kings, especially as the consequences of the silver class legislation are certain to be disastrous to the country.

"It is easy enough to see that before the November elections come on every intelligent voter in the United States would be laughing at us and instead of a national legislation we should have a kind of Humpty Dumpty show, say a national circus, with the democratic party in the very important character of clown.

"It is only natural that level-headed democrats are not enamored by such an outlook, and it is easy to see that the men who would bring contempt and disgrace upon the party would live to regret it to the end of their days. What the party needs now is an insurance policy and if we down this free-silver madness now it will never rise to plague its creators again. We had no trouble getting plenty of signatures to the call for a conference in the very short time we devoted to it."

THREATENED STRIKE.

The Pennsylvania Machinists Promise to Make Trouble.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 19.—The strike of the machinists in the Pennsylvania company's shops is assuming a serious phase. Representatives from all the machine shops along the entire system are here and last night a meeting was held and lasted until an early hour this morning.

The advisability of calling out all the machinists on the system was discussed, and Secretary Lamb of the International Union gives out that the committee is empowered to finally decide upon this point.

Lamb refuses to talk or to divulge the identity of the members of the committee. The secret session was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

WILL LOOK IT UP.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19.—In the senate to-day a resolution was introduced reciting that many physicians condemn the treatment of dissomaniacs at the Keeley institute at White Plains as likely to be detrimental to the health of the patients, and empowering the senate to investigate the treatment and take whatever action is necessary.

DEPOT BURNED.

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 19.—The Pennsylvania railroad depot at North Elizabeth caught fire from a locomotive spark yesterday morning and was destroyed. Loss $8,000.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 19.—Colligan, the driver of the horse car that was struck by a train last night, is not so badly hurt as was thought, and will recover.

BARON STAFFORD DEAD.

London, Feb. 19.—Sir Augustus Kerningham, Baron Stafford, died to-day of softening of the brain, at the age of 62 years.

NEW YORK'S EXHIBIT.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19.—The bill appropriating $300,000 for New York's exhibit at the Chicago world's fair, was favorably reported by committee in the assembly to-day.

THE MINTON DIVORCE CASE.

Much Sensational Evidence Introduced.

The Judge Takes the Statements to Prove Misconduct on the Part of the Wife Under Advisement.

Parker, S. D., Feb. 19.—In the Minton divorce case yesterday, Editor Minton tried to introduce testimony to prove misconduct of Mrs. Minton with Mr. Weston.

The court took the point under advisement and the case proceeded on other lines. Mrs. Minton introduced her personal checks to show she had provided for the household expenses and her husband retaliated with his own checks for the same purpose.

Mrs. Minton admitted the checks, but denied the object for which they were given.

In the afternoon Mrs. Minton testified to brutal and drunken conduct on the part of her husband and failure to support her. On the cross-examination her testimony was not shaken.

When her examination ended the plaintiff rested and the defense introduced a number of depositions of prominent men of New York to show the good character of the defendant.

DOESN'T MEAN HIGHER PRICES.

New York Democrats to Look After the Coal Roads.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19.—In the senate to-day a resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate and report whether any corporation doing business as a common carrier in this state has entered into any agreement with any other corporation or corporations to advance or control the price of coal, and, if so, to report by bill such remedial legislation as will counteract the evil or prevent such combinations.

BRAZIL STILL IN TROUBLE.

The People in the Provinces Remain in Arms.

The Governor of Ceara Driven From the Province—The Whole Country in Turmoil.

London, Feb. 18.—Considerable difficulty has been experienced during the past few days in obtaining definite political news from Brazil. In spite of all denials that there is any disturbance in that country it is known beyond doubt that serious movements are taking place there; but the exact nature of these movements is not known.

Rio Grande do Sul is still reported to be in a state of upheaval and it is said that disturbances have also occurred in the province of Pernambuco and in the province of Ceara.

In the latter portion of Brazil, report has it that the people have risen in arms and that they have expelled the governor, who is said to be a strong supporter of President Plexotto, now practically the dictator of Brazil.

In business circles here very little seems to be known about the internal affairs of Brazil, but it is admitted that matters are far from being tranquil.

BEAUTIFUL AURORA.

Another Grand Display in the Heavens Last Night.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 19.—Another bright aurora was visible here last night. Were it not for the thin clouds which covered the entire sky a magnificent display would have been visible, rivaling, perhaps, that of last Saturday night. Even through the clouds the rich coloring could be seen over the entire north and there was evidence of bright streamers in the rapid fluctuations of light.

CHEROKEES HAVE THE GRIP.

Arkansas City, Feb. 19.—The grip is playing havoc with the Cherokees just east of Osage agency. Within a radius of ten miles of Skiatook 22 have died within the last six weeks. In one case an entire family, consisting of father, mother, sister and two children, died. The trouble seems to be they pay no attention to it and do not give up and go to bed until too late.

WILL SAIL FOR EUROPE.

Secretary Foster to Take a Trip Abroad.

He Has Never Fully Recovered From His Recent Attack of the Grip—Dr. Hamilton to go with Him.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Charles Foster, secretary of the treasury, will leave for Europe next Wednesday on an extensive trip for his health.

At noon yesterday Gen. John B. Hamilton, surgeon of the marine hospital service here, received a dispatch from Secretary Foster requesting him to report in Washington before next Monday, and make preparations to go to Europe with him.

Gen. Hamilton will leave for the capital Saturday night.

He says the grip weakened the secretary, but that his health has not at all been undermined although he needs a rest badly.

NO END TO THE FLOOD

Of Bills Being Introduced in the House.

More Offices to be Created for Politicians.

Flickinger and Griffin Pulling Apart in the Legislature with Heller Saying Never a Word.

Columbus, O., Feb. 19.—(Special)—It must be that harmony exists in the delegation from Lucas county with a large H. While Mr. Flickinger opened up the convict labor question with his bill and resolution the rotund form of Griffin loomed up on the homestretch in better condition as he secured the first recognition from Speaker Laylin, and sent Clerk Malloy an identical copy of the resolution published in the Bee of yesterday, except that Griffin provided that citizen members should be selected by the senators, and that the representative of labor must be identified with a labor organization.

The remainder of the resolution was similar to that of our white-haired friend, Senator Flickinger.

It could be plainly seen that he was somewhat annoyed at being knocked out of securing notoriety at the expense of the workingmen of Ohio, who have so often been led astray by the wily politician.

Labor Statistics.

The statistical clerks in the office of commissioner of labor have completed some very valuable statistics about the industries of the state, based upon returns from the various factories of the state. The following is from the manufacture of boots and shoes:

The cost of materials, $3,691,212 added to $1,708,540, the amount paid in wages and salaries, make $5,399,752, the entire cost of production, this deducted from $5,995,323 or the whole value of product, leaves a net profit of $595,571 or 35.64 per cent. of the whole capital invested. The capital invested equals $383.40 per employe.

By deducting the cost of materials from the value of product, the balance is the combined earnings of capital and labor, of which labor receives 74.15 per cent. and capital 25.85 per cent.. (Labor here includes wage earners and salaried officials).

Of the $5,399,752 entering into the cost of production, 31.6 per cent. was paid in salaries, and the balance, 68.4 per cent., was paid for materials.

The total number of employes drawing $1,708,540 in wages and salaries is 4,351; of this number 159 are managers, bookkeepers, salesmen and clerks, drawing in the aggregate $293,401.84, an average salary of $1,845.30 each. Deducting 159 from 4,351 and $293,401.84 from $1,708,540 we have 4,192 wage earners receiving $1,415,138.16, an average of $337.60 each per annum.

Dividing the number of days worked during the year by the number of employes, gives a working year of 300 days; which, at $337.60 per year, gives an average daily wages of $1.13. The average number of hours worked per day is 9.7; this gives an average hourly wages of 11.6 cents.

In the reports received from the manufacture of stoves and iron castings a large array of figures are given, from which the following are taken:

The cost of materials, $4,570,022, added to $3,471,883, the amount paid in wages and salaries, made $8,041,905, the entire cost of the production; this deducted from $9,083,404, or the whole value of product, leaves a net profit of $1,041,499, or 20.61 per cent. of the whole capital invested. The capital invested equals $746.34 per employe.

By deducting the cost of materials from the value of product, the balance is the combined earnings of capital and labor, of which labor receives 76.9 per cent. and capital 23.1 per cent. (Labor here includes wage earners and salaried officials).

Of the $8,041,905 entering into the cost of production, 43.17 per cent. was paid in salaries and wages, and the balance 56.83 per cent., was paid for materials.

The total number of employes drawing $3,471,883 in wages and salaries, is 6,769; of this number 333 are managers, bookkeepers, salesmen and clerks, drawing in the aggregate $419,028, an average salary of $1,259.34 each. Deducting 333 from 6,769 and $419,028 from $3,471,883 we have 6,436 wage earners receiving $3,052855 or an average of $474.34 each, per year.

Dividing the number of days worked during the year by the number of employes gives a working year of 288 days, which at $474.34 per year gives an average daily wages of $1.65.

The average number of hours worked per day is 9.8. This gives an average hourly wages of 16.8 cents.

Widows' and Widowers' Dower.

Representative Winn is one of the ablest members of the present general assembly, and when questions of law are under consideration his voice is heard and the house gives him considerable attention.

He is the author of a bill passed yesterday in the house. It enacts a supplementary section to 5714 and provides that when a widow or widower petitions for assignment of dower in lands that are unimproved, the court shall fix the value of the dower in cash and order the sale of so much of the land as may be necessary to pay the same. Under the present law, unproductive land could be assigned, on which the person holding the dower would be unable to realize an income of benefit of any kind.

Toledo Judicial District.

Representative Griffin introduced yesterday afternoon a bill changing the subdivisions of the Eleventh common pleas district, by transferring Lucas county from the third to first sub-division and Huron and Sandusky from the first to third sub-division. The judges now in office shall serve until their successors are elected in their respective sub-divisions. This bill was introduced in the Sixty-eighth general assembly by Mr. Bense, of Ottawa.

Pills Introduced in House.

Following bills were introduced in the house yesterday afternoon:

Bills Introduced.

Mr. Cunningham—Dividing Auglaize township, Allen county, into two election precincts.

Mr. Gallagher—Authorizing the board of education of Cleveland to levy a tax and purchase buildings to be used for manual training schools.

Mr. Brittain—Amending existing statutes so that a township can be created from territory comprising less than 22 square miles.

Mr. Doty—Providing that in cities having a population of more than 50,000 a station house shall be set aside for the detention of children and females under arrest, and further providing for the appointment of a police matron.

Mr. Korts—Authorizing the commissioners of Hamilton county to levy 1-10 of one mill for one year for the purpose of improving the Madisonville pike.

Mr. Pudney—Amending section 5182 so as to allow jurors 10 cents per mile as mileage.

Mr. Bruck—To pay to justices of the peace in Columbus an annual salary of $1,500, with $400 for a clerk and $200 for office rent.

Mr. Meyers—Providing that boards of county commissioners shall organize on the first Thursday in January instead of December.

Mr. Boyer—Making 10 per cent. of the wages of married men liable to payment of debts, and compelling employers to reserve the amount for not more than two creditors at the same time.

Mr. Graft—Amending the act pertaining to executors, and compelling them to give bond where interested persons demand it, even though the will waives bond.

Mr. Strock—Providing that the inhabitants of territory annexed to villages shall be entitled to all school privileges.

Mr. Harshbarger—Amending section 445 of the ditch laws so as to compel county auditors to notify interested property owners of the pendency of petitions and apportionment of cost.

Mr. Smith—Changing the name of Solomon Jones, of Wyandot county, to Charles Jones.

Mr. Weybrecht—Abolishing boards of elections in all cities except Cincinnati, Cleveland and Toledo, and extending the power of county boards over such cities.

Good Scaffolds and Ladders.

Mr. Pudney, of Cuyahoga, came to the front last evening with a bill that is of considerable importance to painters, carpenters, decorators and persons who may have to use ladders or scaffolds, which are very often in bad condition when furnished by contractors. The bill makes it a misdemeanor for any one to furnish such unsafe implements to any workmen.

More Offices to be Created.

The state inspector of shops and factories now has three assistants, but in the opinion of the politicians that was not enough places for the hungry under the guise of helping the laboring men, so Mr. Griffin comes to the front with a little bill that will cost the state nearly $8,000 more to run that department.

Governor's Reception.

Gov. McKinley and his estimable wife gave their first reception at their apartments at the Chittenden hotel last night. Invitation were issued, which resulted in bringing nearly a thousand people to spend an hour or two with the chief executive and his wife for an exchange of the amenities of life.

The hotel was filled with gayly dressed ladies, and gentlemen in the conventional evening dress, with a bright boutonniere to relieve the plainness of their attire.

In vivid contrast with the dress of the male civilians were the uniforms of the members of the governor's staff and the regular army officers stationed at the barracks in this city. There were present besides the citizens of Columbus, the members of the general assembly, state officers, and military officers, people from all the parts of the state who were presented to the Governor and Mrs. McKinley and promenaded to the enlivening music furnished by the Fourteenth Regiment band.

The reception was in the blue parlor, which was profusely though tastefully decorated with countless exotics. Speaker Laylin and Private Secretary Boyle presented the guests to Governor McKinley as they passed through the room. They were assisted by Mrs. Laylin and Mrs. Boyle, Miss Grosvenor of Athens, Miss Boyle of Columbus, and Mr. William Taylor of East Liverpool.

All the parlors were thrown open to accommodate the governor's guests, but they were not sufficient to contain them all, and the large banquet hall was placed at their disposal, where they enjoyed themselves until 10:30 o'clock, when supper was served in the banquet hall on the fifth floor.

This place was also decorated in honor of the occasion, and for several hours the guests followed the time-honored custom of breaking bread with their host and hostess.

After supper the orchestra and band furnished music for those who desired to indulge in the pleasures of the dance. Not until about midnight did the throng become perceptibly lessened in density. At that hour grave and sedate members of the legislature and state officers withdrew and left the hotel in the possession of the younger generation.

Invitations had been issued to all the personal acquaintances of the governor and all those entitled to the hospitality of the chief executive, and the reception was one of the most pleasant and agreeable affairs of the kind ever given by the governor of Ohio.

Sterritt's Pill Bill.

Mr. Sterritt's bill, providing for a board of judicial examiners, was on motion of its author, postponed until next Thursday at 11 o'clock, and was made a special order for that hour.

This was done so that all who may oppose its passage can be heard by the committee. The feature relating to advertising by physicians has been eliminated from the bill, and a large number of physicians were on the floor of the house, hoping it would be passed.

Notes.

The bill of Senator Von Seggern providing that in justice's courts $5 for attorneys' fees shall be taxed in the costs when judgment is rendered in an action for wages, which was lost on Wednesday, was recommended yesterday, and postponed until next Tuesday.

Griffin's bill providing for the infliction of exemplary damages in case of conviction of railroad authorities for overcharging customers in freight rates passed the house yesterday afternoon.

The joint committee to investigate by what right the Pennsylvania company occupies state property in the city of Cincinnati organized yesterday afternoon by selecting Mr. Fisher, of Preble, as chairman, and Senator McMaken as secretary. Messrs. Geyer, Phillips, Kissinger and Wagner will examine state records and report on the same to full committee, after which they will visit Cincinnati next week and look into the records of that city.

Mr. Doty's bill enlarging the jurisdiction of the state inspector of shops, so that it would include tenement and apartment houses was made a special order for next Tuesday.

Late yesterday afternoon the senate confirmed A. B. Robinson, G. W. Morgan and H. H. Green as members of the board of trustees of the Columbus asylum for the insane.

WILL MIX THEIR DRINKS.

The Whisky Trust After Chicago Brewers.

The Price of the Glass Will Not be Increased, but the Size Will be Decreased.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—The Times this morning says: The whisky trust is backing a syndicate which will endeavor to secure control of all the breweries in Chicago not belonging to the English syndicate. The deal is being engineered by P. H. Rice, a member of the trust and one of the owners of the Star brewery.

P. H. Rice spent yesterday in Milwaukee. A gentleman who stands very near to him said that arrangements were nearly completed and that within two weeks the new syndicate would be launched. It will be capitalized for $5,000,000.

"It is probable," said he, "that with all the breweries in the hands of two big combinations the price will be raised and there will be no cutting and little competition."

"Both syndicates will be too powerful to go to war and an amicable agreement will undoubtedly be reached. I cannot say whether the whisky trust will figure openly in the deal, but I know that it is interested in it."

CARRIAGE MAKER FAILS.

San Francisco, Feb. 19.—W. C. Fife, carriage maker, North Oakland, assigned. Liabilities, $60,000; assets nominal. He owes large sums to eastern firms.

HE WAS A DEAD SHOT.

Paris Stirred by a Social Sensation.

An American Banker Kills a Frenchman.

Edward Parker Deacon Finds M. Abeille in His Wife's Bed Chamber and Fills Him Full of Bullets.

Paris, Feb. 19.—The American colony in this city, Cannes and Europe, generally has been startled by a terrible tragedy which occurred at Cannes yesterday evening.

From the meagre accounts of the affair which have reached here up to the hour of sending this cable message, it appears that Mr. Edward Parker Deacon, a citizen of the United States, and a member of an important banking firm in this city, returned unexpectedly yesterday evening to the Hotel Splendide, at Cannes, where he has been stopping during the winter with his wife.

Without giving any explanation to the hotel people for his sudden return from Paris, where he was expected to stay for a few days at least, Mr. Deacon ran upstairs to his wife's bedroom, burst in the door and found her there in company with M. Emile Abeille, a French gentleman, who is said to have been a friend of Mr. Deacon's.

The latter, after exchanging a few hot words with M. Abeille, drew a pistol from his pocket and fired at the latter, who fell to the floor mortally wounded.

Deacon has been arrested. Mr. and Mrs. Deacon have been leaders in the highest society of the reviera. Mrs. Deacon is still at the hotel with her four young children.

In Court To-day.

Paris, Feb. 19.—The shooting of M. Abeille, formerly an attache of the French legation in Washington, by Mr. Edward Parker Deacon, the well-known banker, who found the Frenchman in a compromising position in Mrs. Deacon's bedroom at the Hotel Splendide, at Cannes, during Tuesday night, is the one great suject of conversation in fashionable circles in Europe.

All the parties in the case are so well known that it is almost impossible to enter a social circle without meeting some of their friends.

Mr. Deacon is upheld on all sides, particularly among Americans, for killing his wife's lover, and very little, if any sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Deacon.

The mother and brothers of M. Abeille arrived at Cannes this morning and took charge of the remains. They have been embalmed and enclosed in a handsome casket and will be conveyed to this city for interment.

It is almost impossible, out of the many conflicting stories told of the shooting, to get at the exact feelings in the case, but the story, as told exclusively in these dispatches yesterday is to all intents and purposes correct.

The dead man who is a brother of the deputy of the same name, has, it would seem, been carrying on an intrigue for some years past with Mrs. Deacon, but to what extent is not known.

This morning Mr. Deacon was taken before a magistrate and submitted to a preliminary examination. He said in substance, that he was sorry he had killed M. Abeille, and that he only wanted to mark him as proof that he had criminal relations with his wife. "These relations," he added, "are now effectively stopped and I do not intend to apply for a divorce. But I shall remove the children from her care and if I can help it, she shall never see them again."

During the examination, Mr. Deacon gave his account of the tragedy. He said that he had been long suspicious that his wife and M. Abeille held improper relations and that in consequence, he pretended that he was going to be absent for the night and, instead, he returned to the hotel Splendide at midnight and that, passing the door of Mrs. Deacon's bedroom, he saw a light shining from beneath the door.

This, he said, caused him to pause and listen to see if she was asleep, as Mrs. Deacon had excused herself from accompanying him to a ball at the Cercle Nantique on the ground that she was indisposed.

Mr. Deacon further said that he did not quite believe that Mrs. Deacon's indisposition was as serious as she seemed to wish him to believe it to be, and this, combined with his previous suspicions as to her intimacy with M. Abeille, caused him to listen at her door.

While so doing, Mr. Deacon said, he distinctly heard the murmuring voices of a man and a woman, and came to the conclusion that M. Abeille was in the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Deacon.

When he was convinced of this fact, Mr. Deacon continued, he resolved to secure a witness and to surprise his wife in company with her lover. Therefore he went down stairs and asked one of the hotel clerks to accompany him upstairs with a light, so that there could be no mistake as to the identity of the man in Mrs. Deacon's room.

Mr. Deacon, in addition said that the clerk had accompanied him to Mrs. Deacon's apartments, and upon obtaining admittance as already described, they found M. Abeille hiding, half naked, behind the curtains.

Mr. Deacon also said that he fired three shots in all from his revolver, two of which took effect upon M. Abeille who fell by the side of the bed.

BIG BLAZE IN CLEVELAND.

The House of E. M. McGillin Burned Out.

Stock to the Amount of Half a Million Dollars Destroyed by the Conflagration.

Cleveland, Feb. 19.—At 12 o'clock last night the five-story brick block at the corner of Superior and Seneca streets, occupied by the E. M. McGillin dry goods company, caught fire and before the fire apparatus arrived was a roaring furnace.

The McGillin company had just received a new stock of spring goods, and one of the proprietors says all their material in the building is worth a half a million dollars.

It is the largest dry goods and general notion store in the city. The damage is nearly covered by insurance on both the stock and building.

The blocks adjacent on both sides are slightly damaged. It is feared that an old man, a watchman employed in the building, may have been burned to death, as he has not been seen since the fire broke out.

There was almost a panic among the guests of the Forest City house near by, but their fears were soon allayed.

ALL RIGHT AGAIN.

The Consolidated Generator Has Been Replaced.

Some time ago a generator at the Consolidated street railway company's power house was destroyed, which handicapped the operation of the system to a certain extent. It was necessary to reduce the number of cars in service to come within the limit of the power. A new generator has been placed in position and the usual number of cars will be running on the various lines to-morrow or Sunday certain.

THE CIRCUIT COURT

Will Be Housed in the Nasby Building Next Term.

The next term of circuit court will be held in new and spacious quarters in the Nasby building. Several days ago T. H. Walbridge submitted a contract for the lease of a suit of rooms in the new Walbridge building on the corner of Huron and Madison streets to be used as a circuit court room. This was submitted to Prosecutor Barber for inspection. Mr. Barber has approved the same, and the matter is practically settled.

ROBISON BARN

Nearly Completed and Will Be Ready for the New Cars.

Work at rebuilding the Robison car barns, recently destroyed by fire, has progressed rapidly under Contractor Charles Schmuhl, and the building is now nearing completion.

The old walls were used in rebuilding and now the roof frame is about finished.

Mr. Schmuhl says that he will have the barn in readiness to receive the new cars as soon as they arrive here.

A MICHIGAN GIRL

Rescued from a Life of Shame in Toledo.

A girl named May Breyman is in charge of the matron at the police station, and she has been rescued from a life of shame, for the present at least. The girl is only 15 years old and she ran away from her home in Birmingham, Mich., to join her sister, who was in a house of prostitution in this city. When she arrived here she found that the sister had gone, and the mistress of the place refused to keep the girl, but reported the matter to the police. Word has been sent to the girl's father in Michigan, and the authorities are waiting for a reply.

NEW DEPARTURE

For One of the Wholesale Grocers—New Cigar Factory.

R. A. Bartley, the wholesale grocer, has completed preparations to establish in connection with his business a first-class cigar factory.

Heretofore Bartley has been obliged to send east for the cigars with which he furnished his trade, but hereafter he will have his own goods.

His cigar making department will commence operations next week, and he will employ 25 men. Later he will probably increase this force considerably.

BUGGY SMASHED

By Collision with a Stone Wagon Left Standing in the Street.

While driving home about 9:30 o'clock last night, Councilman Charles Schmuhl's buggy collided with a heavy wagon standing in the street in front of Eckhardt's stone yard on Erie street, near Monroe. The collision was rather disastrous to Mr. Schmuhl's vehicle, as a wheel was torn off and the buggy was otherwise damaged. There has been considerable complaint from this point, as it is alleged that this firm is in the habit of leaving their heavy stone wagons in the street over night. The street is dark at this point, and several collisions have resulted.

THE LATE WRECK.

The F. & P. M. Secures First Blood in the suits.

Judge Pugsley this morning set aisde the service in the wreck cases against the Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad company, on the ground that Mr. Huston, the Lake Shore agent on whom the summons was served, was not the agent of that company.

HOW IS THIS?

Vicious Assault Upon a Peaceful Citizen On the East Side.

Last evening, as he was returning from attendance upon a meeting of a council committee, Mr. John C. Nauts was set upon by a crowd of young men, within sight of his home, and brutally assaulted. Mr. Nauts knows of no one that he has offended in any manner and thinks the attack was made as a matter of mistaken identity. However that may be, it goes to show the necessity of more police protection in East Toledo, especially in the neighborhood of where this unprovoked assault was made—on the corner of Nevada street and East Broadway.

MASONIC RECEPTION

Given by Fort Meigs Chapter at Masonic Temple Last Evening.

Fort Meigs chapter, No. 29, R. A. M., enjoyed a pleasant evening in the Masonic temple last night.

Besides the chapter there were present the ladies and a number of invited guests. The entertainment consisted of a sumptuous banquet and dancing. The music was furnished by Fauchatar Bros., who also sang several songs.

During the evening Past High Priest Charles M. Laug, was presented with a handsome jewel from the chapter, the presentation being by Most Excellent High Priest, Lafayette Lyttle.

Mr. Laug was surprised, but managed to express his thanks for the gift.

QUESTION OF JURISDICTION.

What Rights Have the City Authorities Over Crimes Committed on Government Property?

Arguments were heard in police court yesterday afternoon on the jurisdiction of the municipal authorities over the government building. It was in the assault and battery case against George N. Lysight, the assistant weather observer, who assaulted Jacob Himes in the post-office elevator. Mr. Kent Hamilton appeared, to assist the prosecution, and a number of lawyers were present to hear the arguments. The case was continued until to-morrow afternoon, when it will probably be finished.

Much interest is being taken in this case by lawyers and the police, as the question has been raised as to the authority the police may have to arrest a man for an offense commited on government property.

LOCAL PUGILISTS

Pummel Each Other at Frank Kelly's Benefit.

Last evening a benefit was given to the local pugilist Frank Kelly at Jack Kerwin's club rooms. About 250 spectators were present. The first event was a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match between Joe Mullen and John Michael. The latter contestant won two out of three trials and was declared winner. A bout with the gloves followed between Young Sullivan and Fred Shrive.

Steffel, a pupil of Jack Kerwin's, next took a little punishment from W. T. Kelly in three rounds with the gloves. Abe Jordan and Kid Bauman, Joe Michael and Jack Mullens put on gloves also. The finale was a four-round go between "King" Kelly and Ed Sullivan, the champion heavyweight of Toledo. Kelly had rather the best of his opponent.

FISH DEALERS'

Meeting in Sandusky Yesterday—Nothing Much Done.

An informal meeting of fish dealers was held at the West house in this city yesterday at which an effort was made to complete an organization for the mutual advantage and protection of those engaged in the fishing industry in the cities in this immediate locality.

Mr. Siemon Schacht presided at the meeting and Mr. F. W. Alvord officiated as secretary.

The matter of regulating the setting of pounds was one of the minor topics of discussion. The catchers of the finny tribe did not reach an agreement in the matter of organizing and another meeting for that purpose will be held one week later, probably in this city.

In attendance at the meeting were: Hon. Wm. E. Bense, Harry Hollingshead, John Hanlon, Henry Horneit, Wm. Bertsch, Wm. H. Moore and Henry Cleaver, of Port Clinton; Arthur Howell, Toledo; J. W. Wickham, jr., Peter Hermes, Jabez Wright and F. F. Scott, Huron, and all the Sandusky dealers.—Sandusky Register.

FATHER BURNS.

Regret Felt at His Departure from Toledo.

In all directions regrets at the departure of Rev. Father Burns are heard. He has left St. Joseph's and has decided not to stay in Toledo. This will be a disappointment to St. Francis de Sales', as that congregation expected he would be assistant to Rev. Dr. Quigley, who greatly needs a priest to relieve him. Father Burns' hearty interest in the Catholic club had made him scores of friends and his eloquent sermons during advent, and on Cardinal Manning at St. Francis de Sales church had impressed hundreds with the highest admiration for his intellectual and scholarly character and ability. He would have been a great acquisition to the clerical corps of Toledo. His delightful cordiality and courteous manner impressed every one delightfully and his going away is felt as a misfortune. There will be one more opportunity to let friends to greet him when he returns to Toledo to give his lecture on Jamaica on or about the 21st of March. He will then remain in the city for a few days.

THE MISSES TILLINGHAST

Gave a Reception and Tea Last Evening.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was the reception and tea given from 5 to 7 o'clock last evening by Misses Lamoille and Grace Tillinghast. Miss May Douglass, of Berlin Heights, assisted in the receiving. Miss Nettie Van Dusen, Geo. W. Stevens, Miss Elizabeth Paddock, Geo. H. Stevens, Miss Etta Corbusier, Paul Woolson and Mrs. Dr. Barber assisted in the parlors, while Misses Maud Woolson, Belle Stow and Emma Paddock presided in the dining room, where an elegant repast was served.

Among the many young people present were Miss Eva Taylor, Miss Eva Bond and her guest, Miss Brown, Miss Grace Hine, Miss Dolly Waite and her guest Miss Hanker, Miss Kate Gloyd, Miss Sarah Hine, the Misses Reusner, R. C. Otis of Chicago, Fred Terry, Frank and Ralph Rickenbaugh, Prof. McPherson, Harvey Breckenridge, Lawrance Grosh, Carl Beckam, Chas. Pheatt, the Misses Norton, Miss Ermina Pheatt, Miss Charlotte Whitaker, Miss Matilda Campbell, Miss Florence Bergert, Miss Jennie Burdick, Miss Marx, Miss Bertha Marx, Miss Nannie Ormond, Frank Thomas, Miss Maud Cuniff, Miss Mattie Tracy, Miss Bridgeman, Miss Elizabeth Harris, Burt Greer, Karl Flickinger, Fred Adams, Oliver Snyder, Richard Waite, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Blaque Wilson, Miss Mabel Wilson, Miss Beatty, Miss Grace Beatty, Miss Carrie Ritchie, Miss Grace Scott, Miss Alice Sturgis and Ed Kirk. The floral decorations were very pretty. The affair was a great social success throughout.

This will be the third and last athletic contest of the season, and the only public one. The parents of the boys are cordially inivted to be present and see what work is being done in the gymnasium.

The three contestants winning the greatest number of points will be awarded prizes as follows: First, a gold Y. M. C. A. badge; second, oxidized silver sleeve buttons; third, book, Moral Muscles.

Among those who have entered the contests are Vincent J. Emmick, jr., Lloyd McAfee, John Swartz, Burton Waldorf, Carl Mathias and Master Goldman. The events will be warmly contested.

SIXTH AND LAST

Of Prof. Henry C. Adams' Instructive Lectures on Economics.

The subject of the sixth and last lecture in the University Extension course to-night on economics by Prof. Henry C. Adams is "Public commissions considered as the conservative solution of the monopoly problem." The syllabus is as follows:

1. The monopoly problem is the old problem of "fair prices" under a new guise. (a) Teaching of the Roman law. (b) Teaching of the Church Fathers and of Canon Law. (c) Practice of the craft guilds. (d) Abandonment of all attempt at legal regulation.

2. But the monopoly problem of the nineteenth century involves more than the question of fair prices. (a) The social significance of corporations. (b) Relation of monopolies to popular government. (c) Social and moral tendencies of monopolies.

3. Commissions are bodies created by law to guard the interest which the public has in all industries that prove to be monopolies. (a) Railway commissions in the United States. (b) Municipal commissions. (c) The principle of publicity.

Throughout these lectures the most intense interest has been felt to know what deductions Prof. Adams draws from the history and philosophy of economics as he has presented them, from lecture to lecture. These deductions will be presented to-night, when Prof. Adams' own views as to what "may be" the solution of the industrial problem will be given. "May be," Prof. Adams says, for like all men who really know a great deal, he is ready to acknowledge he does not know all. Without doubt to-night's lecture will be the most interesting and in some respects the most beneficial of this course.

THE CATHOLIC CLUB.

Last Night's Meeting Greatly Enjoyed—The Program.

The following program was carried out at last night's meeting of the Catholic club:

Piano duet—Misses Mellink and Fisher.

Mephistopheles duettino, Boitos—Vocal duet, Misses Obermiller.

Original paper upon "The Secret Wonders of the Heavens"—Miss Vangie Moore.

"A Visit to the Pineries," original paper—Mr. R. C. Boyle.

Le Nozze Figaro, Mozart—Vocol solo, Miss Effie Obermiller.

The program was received with much gratification. From the opening number to the close the music was especially fine, the Misses Obermiller being obliged to respond to the continued applause by singing "Thou Art So Like a Flower," by Rubinstein. Miss Effie's voice is wonderful in its power, sweetness and compass, and most highly cultivated. Mrs. Henry Osthaus was the accompanist. Miss Moore's paper was listened to with the greatest interest and was not only scholarly and well written, but described in simple language the phenomena of the starry spheres, the conjunction of the planets, eclipse of the moon, the aurora borealis and interesting facts connected with astronomy.

Mr. R. C. Boyle's paper was very much enjoyed, especially the humorous bits of descriptive living among the wilds of Michigan, and the preparations of the 16-year-old boy to capture the wolves and bears that made their home in the forest. Altogether, in variety and ability, the meeting last night furnished an entertainment equal to any that has gone before it.

LABOR BILLS.

A Number of Them Have Already Been

Thrown Into the Legislative Hopper at Columbus Which Are of Interest to Toledo Wage Workers.

Secretary C. W. Murphy, of the Building and Trades council has received from Secretary Galloway of the Ohio Trades and Labor assembly a circular showing what action in regard to legislation had been taken up to the close of the first week in February.

Among the bills introduced or ready to be introduced are: One for an inspector of plumbing in cities of more than 60,000 inhabitants; one providing for false floors in buildings over two stories high, to protect the workmen, life and limb, similar to the New York law; an amendment to the lien law, fashioned after the law in Kansas, which has been introduced as S. B. No. 5; the eight-hour bill; senate bills 8 and 9, providing for compensation to attorneys employed by workmen sueing for wages. A 2-cent railroad passenger fare bill has also been introduced in the senate through the efforts of the representatives of the O. S. T. and L. A.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

A masquerade ball will be given at Turner's hall next Thursday evening by the Turner society.

Josephine Roeschke applied in common pleas court to-day for a divorce from her husband, Harry Roeschke.

The membership roll of the Toledo Maennerchor includes 150 names at the present time. The society is in a flourishing condition.

The C. K. of A. officials got through their business last night and left for their homes. A statement of their work will be sent to the various branches.

Fred O. Miller began proceedings in common pleas court to-day against the Shower Emunin congregation to recover $3.000 damages for alleged refusal and failure to comply with the terms of a contract to erect a building.

In common pleas court to-day Conrad M. Metzger brought action against John S. Eck to recover $5.000 damages in two suits. One for $3.000 damage to his character, by a statement made by the defendant, wherein the plaintiff says the defendant called him "a sneaking thief." The other $2.000 for an alleged assault.

A CARD

From the Toledo Letter Carriers.

To the Editor: Will you kindly allow us space in which to make a correction? The impression has in some way gone out that persons who have not received an invitation will not be admitted to the ball at our dance next Monday evening. This is wrong, as all persons of respectability, whether they have received an invitation or not will be admitted. The public can easily see why we did not give an invitation to all, as it would have taken at least 30,000 invitations to do so, and this we could not do, but to all persons who have not received an invitation we will now extend one to you through this article and if you have not obtained a ticket you can do so at the door the evening of the dance. Don't forget the date—Monday evening, February 22d.

OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE!

Of the Success of Dr. Copeland and Associates at 706 Madison Street.

Statements that are Candid, Straightforward and Convincing, and From Persons Whose Evidence Is Beyond Dispute.

It is rarely that the specialist, whose observation covers a wide range of throat and lung troubles and whose experience brings him in contact with many of the serious and desperate cases resulting from neglected catarrh, sees a more pronounced case and one more typical of what head and throat trouble, if neglected or not properly treated, may develop into, than the case of Mr. Ancil G. Rice, of 219 Dix street. As near as possible we give his own words:

"My trouble has all been due to chronic catarrh," says Mr. Rice, "and it was not neglected, either, for I

Have Doctored for Years,

but been improperly treated. I had occasional violent headaches. My eyes were weak and watery and my nose was continually stopped up. I was forced to breathe through my mouth.

Ancil G. Rice, 219 Dix Street.

"My throat was always filling up with the dropping of the mucus from the head. I was hawking and spitting all the time. My throat was at times very sore and raw. My rest was poor at night and I was really unfit for business in the morning.

"As I said, I tried many prominent physicians, but experienced very little relief. I had heard and read of the success of Dr. Copeland and associates, and concluded to give them a trial. I did so with the result that my pains, aches and other troubles are all gone. The change in my condition is such that I unhesitatingly recommend Dr. Copeland and associates to all who suffer as I did."

NASAL POLYPI.

This Annoying and Painful Disease Described by a Victim.

(Nasal polypi are tumors that grow in the nasal cavities. They obstruct the passage of air through the nose, swell up in damp weather, or decrease somewhat in fair weather. They give rise to frontal headaches, fits of sneezing, coughing, asthma, facial neuralgia, pains in the neck and chest, and impair or destroy the senses of smell, taste or hearing. The breath often has a peculiar "mousy" odor, the margins of the nostrils become raw and excoriated, the eyes are watery and the voice has a nasal twang.)

"I had been troubled for a number of years," said Mr. George Hoffman, of 107 Empire street. "My head and nose was completely stopped up and I had to breathe through my mouth. This was due, in a measure, to the accumulation of mucus, but more especially to a number of polypi tumors which filled both nostrils. I had treated with a number of physicians but none of them discovered the tumors. Some time ago I called on Dr. Copeland and associates, and placed myself under their treatment. They immediately removed seven polypi tumors and I was able to breathe through my nostrils, something I had not done in years. They then treated my catarrh, and I am happy to say I am feeling better to-day than I have for years. The removal of the tumors was without the slightest pain or loss of blood. I cannot recommend Dr. Copeland and associates too highly."

FROM OUT OF TOWN.

Results in a Case Treated by Mail.

Portage, O., Feb. 9, 1892.

Copeland Medical Institute, Toledo, O.:

Gentlemen:—Since taking your treatment for catarrh, I am very much better. My general health is much improved, my sense of smell has returned. My case was a chronic one and will require time. I am greatly encouraged and anticipate a complete cure. Refer anyone to me.

Yours respectfully,

N. C. BESANSON.

ANOTHER INSTANCE.

A Prominent Real Estate Agent Tells of the Removal of Twenty Polypi Tumors.

Among the many prominent real estate agents in Toledo, none are more popular or more favorably known than Mr. J. J. Sumner, whose offices are at the corner of Superior and Madison streets, and who lives at 721 Prouty avenue. Mr. Sumner tells of his experience with Dr. Copeland and associates as follows:

"I had catarrh for a long time. My nose stopped up so that I could breathe only with great difficulty. In damp weather I could not breathe at all. I suffered from terrible, racking headaches. I often thought my head would burst with the throbbing and the pain. There was the constant flow of mucus from my nose, and my eyes became sore and watery. I did not sleep well, and I found that I was losing my sense of smell. I was most distressed, however, about my voice, which changed in tone until it sounded as if I pinched my nose with my fingers while talking.

"I was quite in despair, when after reading the testimonials of the patients of Dr. Copeland and associates I determined to make a trial of their treatment. I accordingly went to the Copeland Medical institute, and it was only a short time until I began to breathe through my nose, until the headaches disappeared and until the polypus growths were removed. I can now hear the natural voice that has returned to me, much to my comfort and delight. I sleep well and I feel well. I have only one fear, and that is that the polypi may return, so I have concluded to continue the treatment for another month, at the end of which time I shall be forever rid, I hope, of the complaint that for four years made life a burden to me. I am glad to add my small tribute of praise to the splendid work of these physicians."

ANOTHER BELT.

The Consolidated Will Give Toledo One

As Soon as the Necessary Arrangements Can be Carried Out—Boom It Along.

In a very short time the citizens may enjoy a pleasant trip over a belt of electric street railway around the city managed by the Consolidated Street Railway company.

Preparations have been under process for two months to adapt electricity as a motor power, and emancipate the horse entirely. During the winter the company has been completing arrangements to secure polls to support the trolly wire. Just as soon as the weather will permit the work of stretching the wire, and laying ground wires will be pushed with all possible haste to a speedy completion. This will give employment to several hundred men.

The project of establishing a belt around the city will be taken up first. The line will be laid on the following streets: Monroe, Auburn avenue, Central avenue, Collingwood avenue Adams street and Summit street. To complete this belt it will be necessary to construct new track on Central avenue between Collingwood avenue and Auburn avenue, work on which will be begun at once.

In a very short time the Broadway and lower Summit lines will be equipped for electricity, and the residents on these streets will have rapid transit in earnest.

This will require additional power and equipment. Machinery to extend the power house has been ordered, and more will be placed in position when the good of the system demands it. New motor cars have also been ordered, and no expense will be spared to make the new system one of the finest in the state.

CONVICT LABOR.

What Frank Rickenbaugh Thinks

About the Bill Introduced in the House Yesterday—The Congressional Scrap.

"I notice in the paper this morning two things," remarked F. W. Rickenbaugh to a Bee this morning. "First, the introduction of a bill in the legislature yesterday to regulate convict labor and in a measure preventing that kind of labor from coming in undue competition with free labor. I have read the laws upon this subject in the states of New York and Massachusetts and they regulate the amount of convict labor by equalizing the competition of that labor with the labor of the various industries of the state.

"That is, not more laborers than 5 per cent. of the number of laborers engaged in any industry in the state shall be employed by the prisons to work upon the same industry. As this matter stands to-day in Ohio there is chance for the greatest injustice. In fact if the prison labor of the state should be engaged largely in working upon a particular industry it would drive out of existence the factories of the state engaged in the same industry. The injustice coming from that is very apparent. I am told such a condition as that exists in Ohio to-day—a wrong upon labor and capital alike.

"The other item of news is the reference the morning paper makes to Griffin being a candidate for congress. The query with me is, what will Gov. Ashley, Mayor Hamilton, Kumler, Emmick, Tucker and a host of others say about letting Griffin having the field undisputed. But perhaps Squire's influence for Griffin suggested by the paper, will have the desired result. Of course Lucas county should be placed in a republican district."

QUICK WORK

Lands a Couple of Burglars Behind the Bars

For Entering Chapman's Hardware Store and Stealing a Lot of Cutlery.

A very clever piece of work by Detective John Manley this morning landed two surprised burglars behind the bars before they had time to dispose of their ill-gotten gains, and in consequence they are in a fair way to go to the penitentiary.

Chapman's hardware store on Adams street, between Superior and Huron, was entered last night and about $50 worth of fine shears and pocket cutlery taken. The burglars effected an entrance through a rear cellar window from which a pane of glass was missing. In the cellar they took the shears and knives from the boxes and left the cases on the floor.

The theft was reported to the police this morning, and soon after Detective John Manley, assisted by Detectives Spore and Carew, arrested Frank Moran and JohnF. Martindd and recovered part of the stolen property. Both men are evidently professional crooks, and they had probably just dropped into town for the purpose of a few jobs of this kind.

A strange coincidence in the case is the fact that on yesterday Detective Manly had spotted these men for crooks, and in company with Detective Carew was trying to locate them.

KETCHAM FARM SHOEING FORGE

The opening of this institution on St. Clair street will be very much appreciated by owners of good horses in the city. Mr. Geo. Blessing, who is in charge, is one of the best shoers in the country, and will make a specialty of shoeing to cure defects of the feet from whatever cause.

NEW FREIGHT HOUSE.

The Michigan Central Will Build at Toledo.

Fitting Up the Michigan Central Docks—Other Matters of Interest to Railroaders Locally.

The Michigan Central Railroad company contemplate building a large brick freight house at Toledo this spring. It will be built in front of the present house, which will be left standing and used for light freight only.

With the above project in view the old Michigan Central dock back of the Wabash freight house, is being replaced by a new one, which will be filled in, instead of resting on piling. When completed there will be 1,500 feet of first-class dockage.

"The Michigan Central would like to secure an entrance in Toledo and build a handsome depot," said one of the officials of the road this morning.

Regarding the Ann Arbor.

Anent the proposed plan of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan railroad, to carry its cars across Lake Michigan on steel barges, the Ohio State Journal says: "If this method of transportation turns out to be practicable, it will be of vast importance to the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railroad, which turns over a large amount of coal to the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan. President Ashley, of the latter road, has been in fact very anxious to throw the property over to the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo at a bargain, but President Waite has said he does not want it."

Toledo Lines Notified.

The Michigan Central has given notice that it will discontinue passenger relations with the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie road, and to-day the Grand Rapids & Indiana road also comes out with a circular stating "that inasmuch as the Soo Line has declined to consult the G. R. & I. as to what passenger rates shall be over the lines of our respective companies, and have put rates into effect which are unfavorable to this company, which they decline to withdraw, and after exhausting every other means in our power to remedy the evil, we are compelled to decline all business with that road." Toledo agents are requested not to sell tickets which read over any portion of the G. R. & I. and Soo Line.

MAKING GOOD PROGRESS.

The Farmers Successful With Their Saw and Grist Mill.

Wauseon, Feb. 19.—Though a somewhat large project for the farmers to successfully engineer, it is now almost assured that the endeavors of Fulton county's P. of I. and Alliance people to run their own saw and grist mill will triumph.

Many of our best business men have gone down in their purses and done handsomely toward the enterprise.

The managers were somewhat surprised when logs began to roll in from the farmers, free. Nearly enough lumber will be contributed to build the grist mill, the work on which will be begun as soon as the weather permits. The saw mill is in full blast.

THE FOUR AND A HALFS.

Secretary Foster Talks on the Refunding.

He Tells the Public Why He Continued Them at a Reduced Rate of Interest.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The secretary of the treasury has written a letter to the speaker of the house in response to the house resolution calling upon him for information:

"Whether at any time since the 4 1-2 per cent. bonds became due, there has been sufficient funds in the treasury to pay the same; and if so, by what authority he has assumed to continue any such bonds at 2 per cent. interest, and why the same were not all paid at the time said bonds were due?"

The secretary says 4 1-2 per cent. bonds are redeemable at the pleasure of the United States on three months' notice to the holders. He shows that there were sufficient funds in the treasury to pay the outstanding bonds, but says that it was deemed prudent and profitable to the government to continue a portion of them, and the authority under which the bonds were permitted to continue is contained in the act which authorized their issue. The secretary calls attention to the fact that the Forty-seventh congress approved the continuance of the 5 and 6 per cent. bonds at 3 per cent.

ALFRED ALLEN DYING.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 19.—Alfred Allen, of Hardinsburg, who was minister to China during the administration of President Johnson, is thought to be in a dying condition from an ulcer. He is unconscious and his children have been telegraphed for.

LOOK AT THIS.

Are these not healthy and bright children? Their appearance does not misrepresent them; they are both healthy and bright. They are the son and daughter of Mr. J. P. Wiley, of Dorchester, Mass., and he has an interesting story to tell in regard to them. The story is as follows:

"In 1885 my wife, accompanied by my little boy, at that time 11 months old, was visiting relatives in Scranton, Penna. The little fellow was suffering untold agony cutting his teeth. My wife was told to try Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion. The effect was magical. It did not stupefy the child, as most remedies of this character do; it simply soothed the pain of the burning and aching gums. I might write a volume, had I the time, praising this remedy, and then not express my feelings or do it justice, it is simply marvelous. After her return to Boston she wanted another bottle, but I found that it was unknown in this city. I corresponded with Dr. Hand, and received in reply a sample of each of his remedies. I used them on both my children, recommended them to all my friends, and have yet to find the person who, after using the remedies, especially Teething Lotion and Colic Cure, that could not praise them. People may say, and have said to me: 'Oh, there must be something in that Teething Lotion that affects a child's brain.' In reply to this, I will say I have two children a boy and girl, who have been treated with Teething Lotion since time of beginning to end of teething, and I challenge any person to furnish two with any clearer brains. I cheerfully recommend them to parents who love their little ones."

A little book, illustrated, full of sense and suggestion, or sample bottle, will be sent to any one in the land, FREE.

ALL ABOARD FOR CHICAGO.

General Passenger Agent A. J. Smith on Deck.

The Lake Shore Making Elaborate Arrangements to Get There —New Cars Galore.

A. J. Smith, the hustling general passenger agent of the Lake Shore, is in the city to-day and he is chuck full of world's fair business.

"Yes, we expect to have the line double-tracked all the way between Chicago and Buffalo," he said to a Bee this morning. "We may slip up on a short piece near Elkhart, but we can get around that all right."

"You are making elaborate arrangements to get there?"

"Yes; contracts have been let for 60 new passenger cars, and others will follow. We have just closed a deal with the B. & O. whereby we will run right into the fair grounds. It means a great deal for us and our patrons. We will also have local accommodation in and out of the grounds, so that those sojourning on the line of our road in the suburbs will have every facility for going and coming."

"Can you give any probable estimate of the number of people the Lake Shore will carry?"

"Well, it is a very low estimate to place it at 10 per cent. of the total population of the towns, cities and country along the line of our road. Say 30,000 from Cleveland, 10,000 from Toledo, and so on."

"Are you looking for much foreign traffic?"

"No. Mr. Newell thinks we will have all we can do to give rapid and comfortable accommodations to our regular patrons along the line. We propose attending to them first. One society in London (Eng.) under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. is arranging to bring over 3,000 members, but we don't know if we can handle them."

It will be seen from Mr. Smith's remarks that the Lake Shore proposes to be right in it.

By the way, no credit has ever been given the Lake Shore for its share in sending the press delegation across the continent. The far-famed dining and compartment cars were the property of the Lake Shore specially given by General Manager Canniff for the occasion.

ANNA J. MORSE,

A Toledo Lady, Wins the Word Contest Prize.

The Committee Announce the Decision and Make a Statement Regarding the Manner of Decision.

The word contest is over and the decision reached. The prize of $100 offered to the person who submitted a list containing the greatest number of correct words, and less than ten errors, formed from the letters contained in the words "The Toledo Hospital," has been awarded to Miss Anna J. Morse, of this city, whose list contained 1,497 correct words.

Mrs. G. B. Orwig, of Broadway, had the second best list. All other contestants were far behind.

In making the examination of the various lists, all the different forms of the verbs which were not found and defined in the vocabulary of some one of the various editions of Webster's Unabridged dictionary, 1847 and later, were rejected, but not counted as errors, by the committee.

This action was necessary in order to put all contestants on an equal basis, as there was a misunderstanding among many of the contestants as to what forms of the verbs would be accepted.

The lists, after being examined by the committee of ladies, were submitted to Superintendent Compton, of the public schools, for final decision.

The contest was a failure financially. Nothing will be made for the benefit of the hospital.

TOLEDO COAL BUSINESS

Will be Much Larger Than Last Year.

Improvements at the Ohio Central Docks—Prospects of a Busy Season on the C., H. V. & T. and W. & L. E. Roads.

A great deal more coal will be handled at Toledo the coming season than during any previous year. Already the lines entering here are rapidly getting in shape to handle the business.

Chief Engineer Buxton, of the Toledo & Ohio Central railroad, is preparing plans for the extension of the Ohio Central docks in East Toledo, this spring. Additional machinery will be purchased and placed in position before the opening of the season, for the handling of coal, ore and lumber. One thousand new coal cars will be put into service between the mines and Toledo, from which fact some idea of the increased business can be gained.

The Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railroad company will greatly increase its facilities for handling coal at Toledo this spring. Additional equipment will be purchased for the coal trade.

The Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad expects to handle nearly 40 per cent. more coal at the Ironville docks this year than last. All the roads are getting things in good shape for a lively season.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

How Roaring, Crackling and Buzzing in the Ear is Produced.

The eustachian tubes are small tubes, about two inches long, leading from the upper and back part of the throat to the middle ear. Their uses are to permit the passage of air inside the drum-head of the ear. An ordinary drum would be useless unless a small hole is made in the barrel to allow the pressure of air to be equal on both sides of the drum-head. So it is with the middle ear; the atmospheric pressure must be equal on both sides, that the drum-head (tympanum) shall be sensitive to respond to the delicate vibrations of air called sound. If anything happens to obstruct the eustachian tubes hearing is very much impaired if not entirely destroyed. Catarrh of the throat most commonly follows up these little ducts to the middle ear, thickening their mucous linings so as to completely or partially close them up, producing partial deafness. The roaring and crackling sounds which catarrh subjects so frequently complain of is due to the spread of the catarrh to these tubes.

Pe-ru-na is the best, if not the only, remedy that will cure these cases. Taken regularly according to the directions on the bottle the symptoms gradually disappear until a complete cure is the result. In some cases it takes months to effect a cure, while in others only weeks are required, as in the following:

Mr. Frederick Bierman, of McComb City, Miss., had chronic catarrh very badly for many years. The disease finally passed up the eustachian tube into the middle ear, and had almost destroyed his hearing. He has been taking Pe-ru-na but a short time, and his catarrh is very much better, and he hears again as well as anyone.

Colds, winter coughs, bronchitis, sore throat, and pleurisy are all catarrhal affections, and consequently are quickly curable by Pe-ru-na. Each bottle of Pe-ru-na is accompanied by full directions for use, and is kept by most druggists. Get your druggist to order it for you if he does not already keep it. A pamphlet on the cause and cure of all catarrhal diseases and consumption sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

HENRY COUNTY GOSSIP.

The Water Works Plant Still in the Future.

Action on the Matter Postponed—The Electric Question Agitating the People—General Mention.

Napoleon, Feb. 19.—(Special)—Among the provisions of the new election law the several township caucuses of this county are called for a date not later than the 12th prox. by the board of elections.

This will give an opportunity for township electioneering, which has never been done before, as the caucuses have been held on the Saturday preceding election.

As has been before stated, waterworks and electric light have been two topics that have agitated Napoleon for some time.

Plans and specifications, contracts and franchises have been before the council, as a committee, for over a week at adjourned meetings.

A little set back took place at the regular meeting of the council, when the whole matter was indefinitely postponed.

We are as far from these two privileges combined as we were at the birth of the village.

It is the general belief that the town will never have a system of waterworks, while the so-called present enjoyment of electric lights is a mere farce, as only 15 lights are in operation, which is nothing more nor less than an aggravation.

The trustees of Ridgeville, Freedom and Napoleon townships are up in arms over the way in which the gravel roads are being treated by teamsters. The law is very strict in regard to the size of tires to be used and the loads to be hauled, yet it is violated every day. The trustees have held a joint meeting and resolved to prosecute the offenders to the fullest extent of the law. Posters have been tacked up over the townships to this end.

SMUGGLED IN.

Another Pauper Emigrant Turns Up in Toledo.

Inspector Ryan Investigating the Case, and Somebody May Get Into Trouble.

Another case of a pauper emigrant admitted to this country contrary to law turned up in the infirmary office this morning, and an explanation will probably be required from the authorities at New York.

The emigrant in the case is a young Polish German named Ignatz Kosinski. He applied at the infirmary office this morning for assistance, and upon inquiring into the case Director Baumbach soon discovered that he had been in this country only about three weeks, and most of this time was spent in the Buffalo infirmary.

The young man is stout and healthy, but cannot speak English. According to his story he left a wife and four children in Germany and came to this country at the request of his brother-in-law, who lives in Chicago, and who told him he could get plenty of work in America. He sailed from Rotterdam on the 10th of January and arrived in New York on the 26th. When he landed he had $6, and with this he passed the barge office and the authorities sent him to Buffalo with this money. He spent three weeks in the infirmary there, and was then sent west to Toledo.

He tells a straight story, but strange to say, cannot remember the name of the ship on which he came to America, and this is the case with all of these paupers who are smuggled into the country.

Immigrant Inspector Ryan was notified at once, and he will send a statement of the case to the department at Washington. The man wants to go to Chicago, and the infirmary will probably be obliged to send him on.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Prices Current for Produce and Other Articles

Wheat quite active, very nervous and irregular. May opened at 99 1-4c and in a short time light sales were reported at $1.00, but market broke quickly from that point and many orders to sell at that price could not be executed. St. Louis led the bull gossip with the report that about half a million cash wheat had been taken there in the past few days. New York and St. Louis were both large buyers in Chicago.

Closing cables are irregular. English markets are slack and easier. Paris flour dull and wheat 10 centimes up. Berlin is 3 1-2 marks up. Clearances to-day including 71,000 bus. from New Orleans, equaled 255,000 bus.

Cash wheat sales at 98c down to 97c, closing about 97 1-2c. May opened on call at 99 1-4c. Immediately after call sales were made at 99 3-4c and then broke gradually down to 98 1-4c, then back to 99 3-4c down to 98 3-4c, and then to 99c at close. July about four and a half cents under May without sales. No. 3 soft sales at 95c and No. 1 rejected at 88c. Sale of smutty wheat at 86c. White wheat sales at 95c for No. 2 and then at 94 1-2c.

London wheat strong and all quotations 3d@6d higher. Corn firmer. Country markets strong both for England and France. Liverpool wheat firm with light offering. Corn 1 3-4d higher.

Liverpool received in past six days 596,000 bu wheat of which 348,300 was American; and 219,000 bu corn.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 366,808 bu, compared with 67,837 bu on the same day last year.

Corn lower and quiet. Sales include No. 3 yellow at 40 3-4c and No. 3 at 40 1-4c; No. 2 worth about 40 1-2c.

Oats neglected. We quote No. 2 at 33c and No. 2 white at 34c.

Rye—No. 2 at 87c.

Dressed hogs at $6 00 to $6 15.

Bran, $17 00.

Middlings, $15 50.

Clover seed continues strong for cash and February, with March shade easier. Cash prime sales at $5.80@5.82 1-2; February at $5.82 1-2, and No. 2, $5.60. March sale just before the close at $5.72 1-2.

New York closed 1-2c lower on February wheat and 3-4c lower on May wheat. February corn 1-2c higher, and February oats 1-4c up.

Chicago closed 7-8c lower on May wheat, 1-8c lower on May corn, and steady on May oats.

TOLEDO, OHIO, FEBRUARY 19, 1892.

As a statesman of dignity, oratory and influence Mr. Flickinger is going to the front.

The Bee advises everybody in Toledo to get on its platform—plenty of gas, plenty of bonds; short gas, no bonds.

Dudley and Quay would be a good republican ticket, though Wanamaker and Carnegie would be a better fat-frying combination.

The second letter of Mr. Murphy from the city gas field is printed to-day. Stick a pin in the facts he reports and form your own conclusions, entirely devoid of sentiment, when the investigation shall be completed.

Democrats of Ohio are not mixing in the New York fight at the present time, though some newspaper correspondents would have it so. It is a long time to June 21, and we will all know considerably more about what is what when the daisies bloom.

Half the newspapers in the country have called the attention of President Harrison (being he has spoken officially on the subject), to the republican gerrymander of Ohio. But the good man is deaf, and blind to appeal. The hack politicians can do this kind of work unmolested, and the candidates for office will look the other way until it is time to gather in returns and distribute awards.

The American Wool and Cotton Reporter, a trade journal according as its name indicates, says there was never a time since the invention of shoddy when so little of it was introduced in the manufacture of woolen goods. And yet, unless official figures lie, more shoddy has been imported into the country since the McKinley law became operative than ever before in the same length of time. From whence is the demand and what has been done with the stuff?

The Boston Journal says the free wool bill "strikes at one of the dearly cherished industries of New England." This "dearly cherished" business is precisely what lovers of equality and justice in law have been striking at, and what they purpose to splinter in pieces. Strange thing that the managers of the "dearly cherished" themselves begin to see there is no permanent prosperity in legislative favors as against legitimate and natural trade conditions, and are pleading for this kind of a whack.

The reflective ones are considering the Harrison boom in detail, something like this: The strongest patronage machine ever organized in the country with Blaine and Elkins, hands in; Wanamaker, the goody-goody with his following; Raum to stand for "patriotism," Quay, Dudley and their crowd ready to get down on his side of the fence when the right kind of a wink is given. Added to this strength is the whole force of protected monopolists ready to knock in the heads of their barrels. Does look like a strong case for the man under the Hat.

Balfour's Irish bill is at last before parliament. In its introduction, its author recited how long a time the cause of local government for Ireland had been "a cardinal point in the policy of the conservatives." The reason it had been so long delayed when the same cause for England and Scotland had received prompt attention, "must have been because great specific and obvious dangers attended such a course." The opposition led by John Morley and John Redmond was furious in denunciation of the "studied insult" to the Irish and to Ireland. The bill will be given its second reading March 3. The interest was intense, conservative enthusiasm was not apparent and the Irish members will all fight the bill. They consider it a blow to the hopes of the government in the coming general election. No Home Rulers can be caught by such chaff flung out with insulting explanations as to former caution and policy.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat cries out against any attack on the sugar bounty and the organs are citing this as an indication of "democratic harmony." Rather, in its broader and deeper significance is it another illustration of the unfairness of the law of discrimination. Selfish human nature clings to favors and benefits individually. That it gives undue advantage is plain from the tenacity with which its beneficiaries hold to it, when it is clearly against honest principle.

Christianity has not yet developed among us the man who will let go an advantage for the sake of the principle involved in the golden rule. Any man benefited by the tariff isn't at all fretted about its readjustment so his little scheme isn't molested. The sugar men with a clean money bonus in their pockets out of the people's treasury are not fretting about free wool. The protective tariff is simply a snatch and grab game and woe be to the fellows that get left. Don't look for any saint of any party to come up and say "my profits under this law are more than I deserve when my neighbors are having such a hard time to get along; please revise." Of course the bounty-fed will kick and yell like a baby when its nursery bottle is taken away from it. And as said, it only the more forcibly shows the meanness of such favoritism.

The scheme of a newly-formed association of New York city to colonize the Russian-Hebrew emigrants on farms in the far west will be watched with interest. It is under the management of prominent resident Hebrews in the city and will make provision for advancing to them, under lien for security, money to carry farming to its self-sustaining condition, the loans to pay legal interest. Left to themselves, the Hebrews, Russian or whatsoever, do not gravitate into the country to choose rural pursuits. They may appear to be land hungry in their own countries but the propensity to trade and barter seems to strike them when they land in America. The Bee outlined a scheme like this a little time ago, as its readers may recall but will watch out awhile for indications of success before it follows the example of the New York journals which daily make note of how the Emperor of Germany, the Viceroy of India or the Akhoond of Swat is taking their advice on various important matters. All the same, the Bee is interested in the colonization scheme as surely as if it were its own in deed as well as word.

The papers of the country have scarcely gotten through quoting from Gov. Boies' Denver speech before he gives them another chance. This time at the Omaha banquet in honor of Gov. Boyd's reinstatement. The topic given him was "The Iowa Democracy." He reviewed the growth of its principles from 1889, when the majority for President Garfield reached the enormous figure of 78,000, to 1889, when for the first time in thirty-five years a democratic governor was elected by a plurality of 6,573, and re-elected in 1891 by a gain of nearly 2,000. He reminded his hearers that allegiance to party was strong, and the provocation had been great to turn those many tens of thousands of votes from the republican to the democratic party. Fifty per cent of the people of Iowa are engaged in agriculture, and through a series of object lessons these many years they had come to understand how, with all the increasing wealth of the country they were in a class that suffered continual decline, and this while they were in the most fertile and favored state in the union so far as natural conditions were concerned. They had come to understand, through statistics tabulated by him from the report of the commissioner of labor, that even as wage earners, say nothing of the use of their land, they were low down in the scale. The eyes of the farmer, republican as well as democrat, were opened, and that is what this wonderful reversal in the state signified. In conclusion he said: "The contest is on; the end will see their industry put on an equality before the law, with others, or will see it borne down by burdens imposed in the issue of others; which shall it be?" The state of Iowa furnishes a leading example for tariff reformers for the reason stated—its natural agricultural advantages are unexcelled and farming is the chief industry. A hundred volumes of argument could not point the moral as do the official figures presented by Gov. Boies.

There are 100,000 bicycle riders in Washington; men, women, ministers of the gospel, massenger boys, and even Jerry Simpson glide over the asphalt on the wheel. There is a little misgiving lest Jerry's constituents think he is losing his honest rural simplicity, wearing lisle thread stockings and bestriding a glittering 'cycle, but Jerry realizes that he must do something to keep himself before the eye of the public.

Certain coal drivers in Chicago, employed by the county agent to carry fuel to destitute families, have been caught selling a part of their load for beer at saloons. The city out-door relief committee was called to consider what action should be taken, and decided to stop the thieving by stopping the supply of coal. What a lot of solons! They would follow Weller's advice, any day, and cut the boy's head off, to cure him of squinting.

The Kansas City Star never wavers in its faith and fidelity. It says the democratic delegation may succeed in going to the national convention uninstructed, because they want to be in position to strike for the right belt of timber. The Star admonishes them they may as well represent the democracy of the state which is unequivocally for Cleveland, and "he will be the nominee."

Eastern papers are citing, as a pointer in Gov. Boies' favor, that he is a New Yorker by birth. There is something in it. We of the west and middle-west always consider it a mark of sound sense in an eastern-born when he comes west to grow up with the country.

It is true that Gen. Benjamin Butler, in his Lincoln day speech at Boston said this country no longer chooses its great men for presidents, but the rumor that he blushed as he sighed and said it obtains no credence whatever.

OHIO SUPREME COURT.

Business Transacted by the Highest Buckeye Judicial Tribunal.

Columbus, O., Feb. 19.—In the supreme court yesterday the case of John F. Sipe, of Cleveland, against the city of Columbus to test the constitutionality of the ordinance imposing a tax upon venders of articles brought into the city from other places to be sold by a firm intending only to remain temporarily, was postponed.

Mr. Ong, the attorney for Mr. Sipe, is sick, and the hearing of the motion to file a petition was put off for a week.

Attorney General Richards and the attorney for Pete Schwab both appeared in the court to have the case of the State of Ohio v. Schwab advanced on the docket. Pete is a "councilman-at-large" in Hamilton, and the action is to test the constitutionality of the law by which he was elected before the spring election.

A motion was also made to advance the case of Henry Wehrli, the Tuscarawas county murderer now in the annex awaiting execution.

One new case of some importance was filed. Ex-State Senator Henry Steuve, of Cincinnati, asks for a perpetual injunction against the grand lodge of Ohio, A. O. U. W., to prevent Grand Secretary A. T. Roever from dividing the state into two districts, of which Hamilton county is to form one district and the rest of the state the other. Steuve claims that such a division is unjust, as it makes the mortuary assessments of the Hamilton county members $5.50 per month, while those outside of the county pay only $2.50.

A NICE PINT IN LAW.

Suits Filed Against a Street Railroad Company.

Men Discharged for Alleged Crooked Work Sue the Corporation for Heavy Damages.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 19.—The St. Paul City Road company was surprised yesterday afternoon by six remarkable suits for $20,000 by men who were until yesterday in its employ.

Supt. Sloan charged six of the oldest men on one of the West Side lines with conspiring with conductors on connecting lines to defraud the company by turning in transfers wrongfully prepared and used in place of money really collected as fares from passengers.

He discharged them without the usual two weeks notice, and without giving them the privilege of making any sort of defense or explanation.

The conductors claim that they could easily have explained matters but that the slanderous accusations of the company's agent will act as a bar to their securing employment here.

Hence they want $20,000. Their attorneys admit the charge of slander against the company is a poor one, but state that Minnesota courts have held corporations guilty of libel and that libel is but written or printed slander.

GREAT LAWYERS OF THE SENATE

Nowadays They Are Nearly All Arrayed on the Democratic Side.

The great lawyers of the senate are no longer on the republican side of the chamber, says a Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal. "Grandma" Hoar is easily first of the jurists of that side, and he is scarce knee-high to such lawyers as Carlisle, Gray, Morgan, and George on the democratic side. A few years ago the republican side, with Edmunds and Carpenter and Conkling and Ben Harrison, was able to cope with the democratic side, on which sat Thurman and McDonald and Hill and Lamar. When Thurman left the senate and Hill died, and Lamar was promoted to the supreme bench, other great luminaries stepped into their places. Not so with the other side, which will miss Edmunds and Evarts and Spooner this session.

It is the fashion to say that lawyers are made, not born; that there is no royal road to distinction in the profession, but the lawyer is born just the same as the general, or the poet, or the inventor. Ask any little lawyer in Kentucky what the "rule in Shelley's case" is, and he will at once answer that it settled that the word "heir" was to be construed as a term of limitation and not of purchase, or some such jargon that he no more understands than you do. He will refer you to the books and you search them, especially Kent, and study them for months and read volumes about the "rule in Shelley's case," and you know no more than when you first began, unless you have a legal mind like Gov. Knott, or Judge Lindsay, or Bill Delaney, or one of half a dozen other first-class Kentucky lawyers.

The foremost lawyer that ever graced the bench and bar of the United States was John Marshall. I passed by the house this morning where he lived when chief Justice of the supreme court. It is now a hotel, but when it was pointed out to me I began to think about him and about lawyers. He was appointed chief justice by John Adams in 1801 and died in that station nearly thirty-five years later. While as great a jurist as ever construed a law or expounded a legal principle, he lived and died at the head of the federal judiciary as much a boy as when he joined the continental army at the age of 18. When chief justice of the United States, a station of dignity surpassing that of the presidency itself, he would be seen frequently on the commons playing ball with the little embryonic Pete Brownings of that day.

A CAT AND DOG STORY.

Here is a cat and dog story, for the truth and accuracy of which the proud inhabitants of the Swiss village of where it occurred quite recently are, one and all, ready to vouch. A troublesome cat in the village had been doomed to a watery death, and the children of the owner had been told off to take it in a sack to the river Aar, and there to drown it. The house dog accompanied the party to the execution, which was carried out according to parental instructions.

But, much to the surprise of the inmates, a short time after the cat and dog, both soaking wet, reappeared together at their owner's door. This is what had happened: The dog, on seeing that the sack containing the cat was thrown into the river, jumped after it, seized it with his teeth, dragged it to the bank, tore it with his teeth, and restored his friend, the cat, to life and liberty. It goes without saying that the death-warrant of the cat was destroyed after this marvellous escapade.—Pall Mall Gazette.

PUMPS VS. PRESSURE.

The Second Day's Visit to the City Gas Fields.

What the Committee Did and Did Not Find.

The Great Ware Wells Have Turned Oilers—The Experience of the Previous Day Repeated—Expressions of Opinion Regarding Pumps.

Yesterday was somewhat a day of disappointments to the gas investigating committee, that is, the section of it that went to the field.

Mayor Emmick and Dr. Forbes were missing when the starting hour arrived and although the train was held for several minutes they failed to put in an appearance. The balance of the committee—Messrs. Burdick, Lane, Tucker and Romeis—were promptly on hand and they did a hard day's work.

As on the previous day, Manager Heston piloted the delegation on its pilgrimage. He was handed his morning report as he stepped on the train.

"That is a good showing for this end of the line—26 pounds," he said to a Bee as the train pulled out.

"I should say so, compared with the four pounds yesterday. How do you account for it?"

"Well, you see we had two good wells come in yesterday and then last night was warm and the people turned off their burners."

"If the regulators were closed altogether at this end of the line would the pressure increase much?"

"Oh, yes. It would rise to the pressure in the field—90 or 100 pounds."

"With the regulators all open at this end what will it register, say to-day?"

"Three or four pounds."

"How long, do you know, before the pressure will drop to nothing at this point, knowing as you do, the daily average decrease in the pressure at the field?"

"That is one of the questions that, I suppose, the committee will try to answer. Better wait for their report. The drainage on the line cannot be any heavier than it has been; that is certain. If the weather continues mild we will have a sufficiency."

Superintendent O' Herron, who was also on the train, said the new wells were among the best yet struck. They are perfectly dry, but in face of the fact that almost every well shows oil in larger or smaller quantities, how long the new comers will remain dry is a conundrum that even the committee, with all its thirst for knowledge, will not be able to unravel. The field is fast turning into oil territory. The trip yesterday illustrated that fact clearly. Our destination was Stuartsville and Col. Tucker and the newspaper delegation were just finishing a pedro rubber when the scene of Tuesday's exploration was again reached.

Mud! and such mud! It was the consistency of tar and had the tenacity of glue. What with the hot sun of yesterday and the present rain the earth was simply swimming in its own soup, so to speak, and he was thrice blessed who had a pair of rubber boots.

"Well, what of it. Ain't we going to see the great Ware well?" said the Little Joker, and his horrible pums on the last two words passed unheeded and unpunished in the excitement of seeing the much-talked-of and far-famed well.

Ware well No. 1, city well No. 12," shouted Manager Heston, as the committee, with pads and pencils ranged itself around the great gasser.

Supt. Trout has affixed his instruments and there is a rush and a roar as he throws her open. Gas? No. A very torrent of oil is pouriug out and the delegation scurries to a point of safety from the shower of petroleum.

"That there is some gas there is evidenr, but she is a better oil well than a gas well," said Mr. Lane. "Is she turned into the line, Mr. Heston?" someone asked.

"Yes, she is."

"But what of the oil? Ain't the oil going into the line?"

"No, the pressure of the gas keeps the oil back in the well."

"If the pressure was removed would the oil flow into the line?"

"Yes, undoubtedly."

Later Mr. Burdick said to the Bee:

"You see that is the point. If the pressure was removed, as it would be if pumps were used, the oil would flow into the line and shut off the well, thus rendering it practically useless."

That is the exact situation. It is pressure, not pumps that is needed. It was found practically impossible to take the flowing pressure, owing to the rush of oil and so it was left untested. No. 12 is, or rather, was one of the city's big wells. It is recorded in President Jones' annual report as having a capacity of 11,860,000 cubic feet. It had a rock pressure of 265 pounds, and now—there is only this to be said about it: Either the original figures were false and the trustees and others were deceived, or there is an enormous and altogether alarming reduction in pressure and volume.

This was not the only disappointment that was in store for the committee, not by any means. The next well visited was city well 14, known as Ware well No. 3. This was also one of the big gassers about which so much has been heard.

It formerly had a capacity of 9,500,000 cubic feet. To-day it is dead—dead. The great gasser has not an ounce pressure and the 375 pounds rock pressure of a year or so ago has gone with last year's birds' nests.

Right across the fence is a Findlay well also dead. It is not over 50 feet from the Toledo well.

"It is strange how these two wells dropped," said Supt. Trout. "They died inside of 24 hours. First the Findlay well went and half a day later ours went, too. No, I can't give any reason. Across the fence there Findlay owns 200 acres of what was considered as the best gas land in the field, but now it is not considered so."

Ware well No. 1 (in table as city well No. 6) also showed oil in such quantities that it was deemed inadvisable to take the capacity. In fact it was practically impossible.

"Why can't these wells be sold as oil wells? That would be a good way to dispose of them, would it not?" someone said to Mr. Heston.

"According to our contract the city has only right to the gas. If oil is discovered the well reverts to the original owner," was the response.

"How much land does the city own in the vicinity of these wells?" Mr. Burdick asked.

"Four or five acres is leased with each well."

"And Findlay or the Standard can come in and drill adjoining?"

"Yes, and that has undoubtedly hurt our wells."

"Why, of course it has. How could it help doing so? I really think," continued he, turning to the Bee, "that unless there is an united movement to let this field secure a rest there will be but little gas here in a short time. I believe that with a rest the field might recover its former pressure, but all interested—the Standard, Findlay and Toledo—must agree not to use the field for a certain period if we would have the gas output and pressure renewed."

"What do you think of the pumps?"

"They wouldn't do here at all. Remove the pressure and you will have the line flooded with oil."

There were no carriages in yesterday's outing, and it was a long, muddy, weary tramp down to the Whitlock farm. There were indications of oil in the wells here, but not nearly in such great quantity as on the Ware tract.

Whitlock No. 1 (city No. 24) showed some oil, and No. 17, on the Barnes tract, showed so much that the measurement could not be taken. Wells 19 and 20, on the Barnes, were a pleasant change in the round of oilers. They were perfectly dry and their output is not nearly so reduced as in the case of the others.

The subjoined tables will give an idea of the work done yesterday by the committee, of the decrease in volume and in the pressure:

Wells Examined.

	Line Pressure.	Minute Pressure.	Capacity.
Well No. 2	92	101	1,816,000
Well No. 3	93	98	1,816,000
Well No. 6	94	107	not tested
Well No. 12	91	94	not tested
Well No. 14	Defunct.
Well No. 17	92	100	not tested
Well No. 19	91	100	352,800
Well No. 20	92	97	2,556,000
Well No. 24	92	104	2,238,000

The wells marked not tested were not examined as to capacity owing to the utter impossibility of getting anything like correct figures on account of the great flow of oil and water.

Comparisons—Now and Then.

As will be seen by the above table, but five of the nine wells examined were or could be tested. A comparison between the capacity now and a year ago may not be uninteresting. The former capacity of the untested wells is also given. It does not follow that because a well flows oil that it is useless. Not at all. Of course, it is merely a matter of time when such wells play out, but all the untested of yesterday gave out, no doubt, as much gas as some of those tested. Following is a comparison:

	Capacity. Formerly.	Now.
Well No. 2	11,304,000	1,816,000
Well No. 3	9,339,000	1,816,000
Well No. 6	9,101,000	oiler
Well No. 12	11,860,000	oiler
Well No. 14	9,000,000	dead
Well No. 17	9,500,000	oiler
Well No. 19	6,294,000	2,556,000
Well No. 20	9,419,000	3,352,000
Well No. 24	5,161,000	2,238,000

A comparison in the pressure then and now shows even a more alarming condition of things. Here it is:

	Pounds Formerly.	Pounds Now.
Well No. 2	360	101
Well No. 3	352	98
Well No. 6	375	107
Well No. 12	265	94
Well No. 14	375	dead
Well No. 17	360	100
Well No. 19	352	98
Well No. 20	350	92
Well No. 24	260	104

As stated in Wednesday's article the actual rock pressure would register a little more than the minute pressure—probably 10 or 15 pounds more. The average rock pressure throughout the field visited should be about 100 pounds. When it comes lower than that figure there will be mighty little gas coming out of the pipe at this end of the line. With 100 pounds in the fields the pressure at the regulators on the East Side will register somewhere between three and four pounds. For this it will be seen how mighty near the ragged edge of destitution the city is getting in the matter of a gas supply.

The rain had been falling steadily since 10 o'clock and as it was now nearly 1 o'clock it was decided to steer for dinner. To the surprise of many Van Buren was found to be "across the field." The committee had tramped 10 long miles and what with the rain and the mud (those who have never been in the oil fields don't know what mud is)—the gas hunters were hungry and tired and they did justice to the excellent dinner at the hotel.

It had been determined to visit the high pressure gas territory, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, the trip was postponed until some future date.

Talks About Pumps.

"What is your opinion of pumps as a means of bringing gas to the city?" the Bee asked Mr. Lane.

"As far as I can see they would be but little use. I have not a particle of faith in them. Just as soon as the natural pressure is removed the wells will become flooded with oil or salt water."

What do you think should be done to give the city a supply of gas?"

"I really don't know. If the city could only make connections with this high pressure territory it might help out some, but then this trouble arises. If the city does get some high pressure wells it will become necessary to shut down all the low pressure wells that the city is now drawing from. Should that not be done the gas from the high pressure wells instead of coming to the city would back up and be lost in the low pressure line. It is certainly a tough problem to solve. I would have liked very much to have gone to the high pressure territory to-day but I suppose it will have to be postponed."

Mr. Burdick was asked the same question by the Bee.

"The territory we have visited," he said, "is good enough for a summer supply, but I can't see how the pump or anything else is going to help us as long as we have little or no natural pressure behind it. The city's hope seems to lie a good deal in getting into better territory. Of course, it may be that if the wells we have seen to-day had a good cleaning out it might improve them."

"No, pumps won't help out wells like some of those we have examined to-day," said Mr. Tucker, in response to a query. "I have no doubt but that pumps could be utilized to some purposes where the wells have a fairly good rock pressure. Yes, I think it would help out wonderfully if the city had some high pressure territor."

Mr. Romeis, who by the way, has been one of the most painstaking and earnest of the committee, expressed himself in somewhat similar terms. He said he was more or less disappointed in the wells so far examined, but he hoped that further investigation would reveal a better state of affairs among the city's gas wells.

After dinner, a smoke and a chat, the delegation started for Toledo, agreeing en route to resume operations among the wells Monday morning, when it is to be hoped Mayor Emmick and Dr. Forbes will consent to grace the excursion with their presence. M. P. MURPHY.

CONSUMPTION

A WARNING.

"Shame! Shame! Thrice shame!" Hear an indignant cry,
Against your sordid Dives of the towns.
That let your herders burn and your dull clowns
How the Sierra's grandest forestry.

I of the mountains loudly cry you shame,
Is there not gold enough in your hard grip,
But you with sacrilegious hands must strip
These temples old where God first set His name?

Before your hirelings rise the pillared pines
In majesty of swerveless rectitude;
Like sages old and tried that brood
On wisdom, pact the unrest of the times.

Less lofty, but with more of grace, the firs
Spread forth their velvet branches tipped with light,
And wind-kissed aspens quiver, glad, despite
The frowns of gnarled and wrinkled junipers.

Behind—one dreary waste from axe and flame!—
The clown-hands strike, but you, you guide the blow,
What care you that a barren ashy woe
Leaves hill and vale in gaunt and naked shame:

That frightened deer fly panting from the change;
That burned are nests whose songsters chirped and cooed?
You care not. What is lost? A little wood,—
And now your sheep ("Gold, man!") at last have range!

No! Pity will not move. Then fear, instead,
Arouse you to withhold your grasping hands!
How is it that none of you understands
He calls a doom on his devoted head?

Look here! The mocking of the sand's hot glare,
Well, once the whole year here the waters laughed.
Here, hourly, man or beast refreshment quaffed;—
The springs, unbared, are shrinking back. Beware!

The rivers that your darling commerce bear
Are nourished at the wilderness you burn;
Take heed! Take heed! The hand you raise shall turn,
And from your tightening grasp your gold bags tear.

IN MUNICIPAL CIRCLES.

Council Committees Have Much Work to Do.

Better Care for Female Prisoners

Asked by a Delegation of Ladies—The Markets Discussed—Street Improvements—Printing Bids Thrown Out.

Matters were very lively at the council committees last evening and the various committees had plenty to do.

The committee on police gave audience to a delegation of ladies from different societies, consisting of Miss A. C. Mott, Mrs. S. S. Bissell, Mrs. A. P. Stevens, Mrs. Ellen S. Fray, Mrs. S. L. Williams, Mrs. M. E. Edwards, Mrs. Maud Dutton and Mrs. M. E. Beerley.

Mrs. Edwards stated the mission of the ladies and asked the committee to appropriate money for some necessary changes that are needed in the police marten's room of detention.

At present the matron has only one room in which to confine all who come under her charge, and consequently a bad state of affairs often arises, and sometimes there will be confined in this room at one time, both boys and girls, together with drunken women.

The matron also has much difficulty in caring for insane women placed in her charge.

The ladies asked that this room be divided with a partition and that a padded cell be also provided.

Mrs. Stevens corroborated what Mrs. Edwards had said, and also told how Mayor Emmick had failed to keep numerous promises which he had made to the ladies.

After a brief discussion of the matter by the committee Mr. Morganthaler moved that the request of the ladies be granted and the motion carried.

* * *

The committee on printing took up the matter of bids for printing the annual reports of the city. There were a number of proposals and that of the Blade Printing & Paper Co. was the lowest.

A communication was read from the B. F. Wade Co. stating that the specifications had not been definite enough and therefore prevented close bidding.

Mr. Pelton also made a like complaint. The committee then rejected all bids, directed the city to prepare specifications for the printing and ordered a readvertisement for bids.

* * *

The committee on plats approved ordinances accepting plats of Hiett's subdivision, Jewell Place and Rose Hill addition.

* * *

The street committee approved resolutions to grade Williams street from Oliver street to Broadway, and to pave Williams street from St. Clair street to Broadway.

Ordinances were approved to pave Fifteenth street from Monroe to Jefferson, and to open Butler street from Navarre avenue to Earl street.

A petition was presented from owners of Springrove addition, in East Toledo, asking for the vacation of Russell street from Springrove avenue to the Belt Line railroad, and numerous alleys in the same vicinity in order that the property may be replatted.

The committee refused to vacate Russell street, but directed the engineer to prepare a resolution vacating the alleys as asked for in the petition.

A petition was approved to change the name of Fitch street to North Fourteenth street.

* * *

The market committee again took up the resolution which had been referred back to them directing the street commissioner to keep loads of hay, straw and wood off of the Superior street market.

There was some opposition to this but the resolution was finally reapproved.

The resolution to remove the scales from the Superior street market was also taken up and discussed at length. It was at last decided that the scales should stay and the committee accepted the offer of Mr. Mulhenny, the present owner of the scales, of $100 for the privilege for one year.

WRECKED ON THE ROCKS.

An Ocean Ship Goes Down at Sea.

Twenty of the Crew Meet a Watery Grave—Eighteen Reach Shore in Safety.

San Francisco, Feb. 19.—The bark Tamerlane from San Francisco was wrecked off the rocks of Puna at 1:30 on the morning of Jan. 13, with a crew of 38.

The voyage down was satisfactory, but it appears that the vessel lost her reckoning, the officers thinking her at the time of the wreck to be near Kealakeakua Bay, almost two degrees to the westward.

No breakers were sighted when the vessel struck by the watch on deck and the sudden shock threw the crew into great confusion.

Only two small boats were available and one of them when lowered floated away before it secured an occupant. Capt. Howland, the first mate of the boat, the carpenter, the cook and two others entered the second boat, but the ship was rolling heavily and she was stoven in and the waves rolled over her and the occupants were washed away.

Those of the crew who remained on the bars were picked off by the waves one by one until the vessel broke up. The 18 men, including Third officer Pardee, managed to reach the shore with the aid of a plank. The others were all drowned. The list of the lost is as follows:

Capt. Walter Howland, New Bedford, Mass.; Wm. Oysterman, San Francisco, boat header; A. Wilber, New Bedford, second mate; John Allen, boat steerer; Harry Solon, Minnesota, carpenter; Fred British, cook; Moses, Hawaiian, boat steerer; Henry Johnson, American; Michael Sullivan, boat steerer, American; Frank Hewett, steward, Toronto; Frederick Musman, Van Couver; F. Kaiser, Scandinavian; John Anderson, German; Ollie Anderson, Scandinavian, Boston, seaman; John Jouvett, Boston, seaman; Geo. Knowles, San Francisco, American; John Smith, American.

The latter two men were green hands. The Tamerlane was built in Wiscasset, Maine. She had 115 barrels of oil aboard when lost.

Alarm Felt for the Health of the Queen Regent.

Madrid, Feb. 19.—There is considerable anxiety expressed in regard to the health of the queen regent, Marie Christiana, mother of little King Alfonso XIII, son of the late King Alfonso XII. The queen regent has been ill for sometime past and instead of improving, it is admitted that the royal sufferer's sickness is increasing. The exact nature of her malady it not officially announced, but it is said to be the after effects of an attack of influenza.

CHICAGO PLAYING IN LUCK.

She Will Get a New Federal Building.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The house committee on public buildings to-day decided to report favorably the bill introduced by Mr. Newberry, of Illinois, to provide for a site for a public building at Chicago.

The attorney general is directed to obtain from the state of Illinois, or by cession from the United States, as the law may require, the title to a piece of ground north of Jackson street, east of Michigan avenue, and south of Randolph street, containing not less than 180,000 square feet, for the use of the United States government for a public building.

The committee have also ordered a favorable report on the bill introduced by Mr. Newberry to provide for an increase of space for the Chicago postoffice by having erected along the east side of the present government building, and extending to the line of Dearborn street, a one-story building of temporary character, to be of glass, steel, or other non-combustible material, for the use and occupancy of the postoffice in Chicago. The appropriation for this purpose is limited to $75,000.

The committee also ordered favorable reports on the bills appropriating $60,000 for a public building at Salem, Ore., and $75,000 for a building at Cumberland, Md.

RESIGNATIONS HANDED IN.

Another Cabinet Crisis in France.

The French Ministry Decides to Quit After Having Sustained Defeat in the Deputies.

Paris, Feb. 19.—All the members of the French ministry have tendered their resignations to President Carnot.

The cause of the resignations was the action of the chamber of deputies in connection with the bill dealing with associations.

M. Hubbard demanded urgency for the bill as a reply to the attitude of the French bishops. M. de Cassagnac described the bill as an iniquitous measure.

Premier de Freycinet denied that the measure was intended as an act of persecution of the church, or that it need be regarded as a precursor of the separation of church and state. He warmly commended the conciliatory spirit of the pope, who, he said, often gave evidence of sympathetic sentiments toward France. He continued:

"We will doubtless be called upon some day to treat with the Vatican on the religious question. A portion of the clergy may possibly refuse to enter upon the path pointed out to them; but universal suffrage will judge between the two policies." In conclusion M. de Freycinet gave his assent to the demands for urgency, though he said that would not give the measure the significance that M. Hubbard desired.

An excited discussion ensued on M. Hubbard's motion. Finally M. de Freycinet again arose and demanded that an order of the day be moved indicating the views of the chamber on the subject. In accordance with the premier's demand M. Boisserin moved that the government be requested to continue its republican policy. M. de Freycinet accepted the motion and intimated that he considered it a cabinet question.

The vote of the chamber being taken, M. Boisserin's motion was rejected by 304 to 202. The ministers, recognizing their defeat, immediately left the house in a body. The chamber then rejected the urgency motion by a vote of 286 to 246.

THE CHOLERA YEAR.

A True Story of Toronto and the Terrible Scourge of 1832.

A former Toronto lady now residing in England, sends us the following story, for the truth of which she vouches:

It was a sultry evening in July, 1832. The deadly cholera had for weeks been gathering in its victims and left vacant chairs in many a family circle. Dread filled the hearts of those whose dear ones had as yet escaped, and prayers were breathed to heaven by lips unused to pray.

A carpenter was returning from his work along the almost deserted streets, glancing at the house with their blinds drawn and the shops with half closed shutters. Turning the corner of the last street to his home, he met the dead cart, a familiar sight, alas! in these days, but coming as it did from his own street, he felt some curiosity to know which of his neighbors was being taken to the last resting place.

"Whom have you there?" he called to the driver.

"Oh, Mrs. Simmonds," was the reply, "the doctor gave her up and sent for this 'ere cart."

The man suddenly turned pale and seemed about to fall, but recovering himself seized the horse's bridle and shouted to the driver to stop!

"No," said he, "I knows my orders, leave hold of the horse and on I goes."

"The woman is my wife!" shouted the desperate man, and see her face I will before she is put in the grave."

The driver stared and let his hands fall on his knees. The bereaved husband picked up his carpenter's bag, took out hammer and chisel, and broke open the coffin—breathlessly he looked in. Yes, there lay his wife with pallid face—but oh! joy! as he looked, she opened her eyes!

To snatch her in his arms and carry her home was the work of a few moments, and she shortly afterwards regained her full health.

That morning she had risen as usual and prepared breakfast, apparently well, and he had gone to work without one misgiving. At noon the fell disease attacked her, the doctor was sent for, she had sunk into a state of coma, and he pronounced her dead; the rest we know.

Later on, when the cholera had left the city, some of these coffins in the cemeteries were opened, and indisputable proofs found that many of their inmates had been buried alive.—Toronto Empire.

AS TO BLACK INK.

No chemical black ink has yet been made which will write black immediately on exposure. The common black ink is made of nut galls, and is by all odds the best ink ever made. Manuscripts made in this black ink 500 and 600 years ago are just as legible to-day as when first written. The chemical inks of the present are of too recent invention to determine whether they will last, but it is quite probable that most of them will be as legible at the end of 50 or 75 years as they are to-day. There is, however, a fortune in store for the man who will invent a chemical black ink that will write black at the first and remain so.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever see anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Children's Hour

ONLY A SPARROW.

Only an English sparrow,
Of the thousands, saucy and loud;
Yet a fate it met that harrowed
The feelings of the crowd,
On the thronged and bushy highway,
Of the city's market place,
Where electric cars went speeding, by a
Wire, at railroad pace.
And the birdie, tired of pecking
At the offal on the stones,
Flitted up, and little recking
That the copper wire that shone
Like a brand-new burnished penny
Was surchanged with deadly fire,
Settled down upon the shiny,
Perch of newly-mounted wire.
'Twas all over in a second.
There, with plumage scorched and seared,
Men and boys began to beckon,
Pointing to the sight so queer,
"'Tis another lineman murdered,"
The rearmost, hastening, cried:
"No, thank God, 'tis but a sparrow,"
As the feathery ball they spied.
Only an English sparrow,
Of the thousands under feet,
But up went a throb of sorrow,
From the crowds that surged the street.

—Our Young People.

AN ADVENTURE WITH BRIGANDS

Three years ago, when I was only eighteen years old, I went to Europe with a college professor. I was large for my age, tall and broad shouldered.

When we found ourselves in France and noticed the splendid roads we decided to get bicycles. At Paris we hired two strong road machines for two months' use. We were both good riders and so no time was lost in learning.

The professor said he wanted to get a view of the country where the Turkish-Russian war of fourteen years ago was fought. So we put off for the southeast. From Paris we rode through to Geneva.

From Geneva we had plenty of mountain climbing to do until we got through the Tyrol and into the flat country comprising the Danube Valley. But we didn't mind the climbing at all, for we always had a coast on the other side of the mountain.

Don't think my professor was an old, stiff sort of a fellow. Not a bit of it. He was a young man, larger than I and very muscular, and he had carried off many prizes in the college gymnasium, and the way he would drive his 56-inch wheel up the grades made me green with envy.

Up to the time we reached the Belgrade, the chief city of Servia, I had had no occasion to see the professor display his strength, except once and that was one afternoon when we were bowling along the road between Funfkirchen and Mohacs in Hungary. I had got some distance ahead of the professor, who had stopped to glean information about a historical event, and had lost sight of him around several bends in the road. I was riding "hands-off" on an easy bit of road, when a peasant's team took fright, turned short, cramped the wheel and tipped the old wagon over.

My kindness got the better of my sense, for riding up, I dismounted and in the best German I could command asked if I could be of any assistance. The two peasants, ugly-looking customers, came towards me smiling which threw me off my guard. One moved behind me, and while I was bending over the wagon to see the damage done, they both threw themselves upon me with oaths and a rain of blows. I aimed a blow at one, but the man behind caught my arms.

I gave a wild yell for help. In a moment I heard the familiar toot of the professor's bicycle whistle and then his big wheel swept around the bend. Then I saw the professor take a man in each hand and tear them off me as if they were children. After [illegible] our fists in the fellow's faces until they were well frightened, we mounted and sped on.

We left Belgrade all right and got as far as Kruschovatz before another experience befell us, but this one was more serious. This time the professor's wit, not his strength, saved us. We decided to cross into Bosnia. We set out for Novi Bazar, and to get there we had to cross a spur of mountains, the extreme northern end of the Pindus range.

It was late in the day when we left Kruschovatz. The people there told us not to go, that the road was not of the best and that brigands had been seen there of late. "What do we care for brigands? They can't catch us?" I asked contemptuously.

"Yes, but some of them ride horses," was the reply.

But that didn't scare us, so after giving our machines a careful oiling and looking over, we rolled away towards Bosnia. We had made up our minds at Paris to depend on our wheels for safety, and under no circumstances carry firearms.

Before we got over the mountains it was dark, but there was a bright moon, and we were spinning along 15 miles from supper, when suddenly the professor said, "Ride close into the shadow on your side and I'll do the same over here. I see some moving shadows down the road. Ride still. And when I give the signal turn into the middle of the road."

Wheel and wheel, the road between, we drew out.

"Now!" came from the professor.

We both swung into the middle. At tht instant half a dozen armed men sprung from the shadows.

"Ride hard." I next heard from the professor. At the instant we leaned over the handle bars to get up the best spurt we could. Bang! bang! came the report of a volley, and over our heads went the whiz of bullets. That was a lucky stoop wasn't it? One of the bullets struck the wheel for it rung like a bell.

Back of us we heard curses and shouting. We laughed and were talking about the fools the fellows were to think to catch us so, when we heard the clatter of horses' hoofs behind us.

"They're after us a-horseback," we both cried at once, and we pedaled faster than ever. But the hoofbeats came nearer. Our long climb up the mountains had fagged us out. I couldn't keep up with the professor's wheel. He saw I was tiring and said, "Jump off! We'll hide in the shadow."

We made the back dismount, and in ten seconds we were crouched over our wheels in the black shadows of the trees.

"We're safe now; our horses won't whinny," he whispered. As he said this six horsemen came thundering around a curve. Just before getting to us they slowed up and began to look at the road. "They're looking for our tracks," whispered the professor. "If they look past here, we are gone."

But they stopped 50 feet from where we were. One got down and examined the road carefully with his practiced eye.

He gave a yell, sprang into the saddle and the six flew past us. "They saw our tracks and think they are sure of us," the professor said, as we dragged our machines out and mounted. "I never knew before the full meaning of the 'silent steed,'" he said. "You see, we can hear them ahead of us, but they do not know where we are."

In another mile we came to a fork. There we examined the road. The fresh hoof tracks led to the right. We dashed away to the left. Five miles further we came to a little town where we put up for the night, the next day riding into Novi Bazar.

We finished our trip through Bulgaria without any more incidents, but we took good care never to ride at night again.—New York World.

The Missing Letter.

"Come, Jennie, school-time!" sang Ned, as he strapped up his books and slate.

"Well, I am coming as fast as I can," came a rather sleepy voice from upstairs, where Jennie was preparing for school, though not very swiftly. Suddenly she peeped through the half-open door and said confidentially, "Come, Neddy, there's a good boy. Tell me this. Answer truthfully, though I don't believe you ever would tell a lie." This was spoken in a teasing tone, for she wanted him to tell her one of his secrets. "Did you go into my room one day and take a letter from the bureau?" she asked.

"I took one and mailed it as you told me to," he said quietly, then scornfully added, "Did you think I would go and read any of your silly girl letters?" "No, I didn't. But one of my letters from Sally Greene is gone, and I can't find it," she answered in a mournful tone.

"What was in the letter that makes you worry so?" asked Ned as he noticed her anxious look. "Oh, nothing much," she answered, but a bright flush mounted to her face. "I must go to school, now." So nothing more was said about it then.

Jennie and Ned Leland lived in a city on the Scioto river. They had always lived in the height of fashion, but that did not seem to improve Jennie in the least. She was a wayward girl, fifteen years of age, while Ned, a good-natured, but teasing little fellow, was thirteen. He had large, honest, brown eyes that would flash when he was angry, which was not very often.

They went to a school in the city, and for a teacher they had "Mr. Boots," as they called him, but his real name was Mr. Bailey. He was a long and also broad fellow, with boots of such a "perfectly immense size," as Jennie said, that his pupils fell to calling him "Mr. Boots."

Jennie was a very bright scholar and won many prizes (unlike Ned, for he would at any time much rather go fishing than to stay indoors and study his tiresome Latin.

"I have my lesson, he remarked proudly to Tommy Black, who sat near him.

"Well, I'm glad I haint got mine. I have something to do," answered Tommy, though he secretly wished that he had learned his, so he could throw paper balls at the girls, as he was in the habit of doing. After the class had recited, Tommy came to his desk a little faster than usual. He glanced triumphantly at poor Ned, who had made a very poor exhibition of his knowledge at the class. "Now, I will have some fun," he whispered and then emptied the contents of his pockets, which consisted of nails, strings, buttons, bits of candy, cookies, and cake, a knife, a plentiful supply of papers, and a photograph of some pompous-looking young fellow, which, no doubt, the mischievous boy had stolen from one of his big sisters. These were all mixed together, with dust poured over them like sauce on a pudding. To Ned it seemed as if he was a sleight-of-hand performer, so many things did he empty into that desk.

As soon as the girls saw what he was "up to" they began to nudge one another, and then they could easily dodge the flying missiles. I think if Tommy had known how disastrously his "fun" would end he would not have been so eager to commence it. He sent one flying towards Sadie March, who dodged it. It flew on, but suddenly landed, not very easily, either, right on Mr. Boot's cheek. Although his nerves of hearing were somewhat affected, his nerves of feeling were not in the least destroyed. He turned and instantly saw the guilty look on Sadie's face. "Miss March, come here this minute," he said in a deep, "scary" voice, which made Sadie shake in her boots.

"Yes, sir, but—but I d-didn't d-do it, if you p-please. Boo-hoo! hoo-hoo!" "Sit down, miss," he said; then turning his face to the expectant audience, continued, "Whoever made this bullet certainly made a very good job of it and had better go into the business of molding them."

He then eyed every boy in the room, and at last settled his gaze on the balls on Tommy's desk. "Ah, ha!" he muttered, like the great giant about to seize his prey, as he gathered the balls together.

"You may go up to Mr. Jones and give him this note," he said to Tommy, who turned pale, for he had been in that individual's presence before, and was not much fascinated by it. He did not like the appearance of willow switches in the least.

After Tommy had gone Mr. Bailey began to spread out the papers, slowly and deliberately. The little chewed-up bits, when put together, formed—what!! The letter Jennie Leland had missed! He took it and, to Jennie's great confusion and anger, read it before all the pupils, being frequently interrupted by prolonged howlings from Mr. J.'s room. The letter contained no news—it only ridiculed all Jennie's companions, and himself, the fat old schoolmaster. The end of it all was that Jennie herself was asked to make a call on Mr. Jones. And, after that, she was not so careless.

BEE HIVE.

Greeting:

Dear Young Friends: I hope you all gave a hearty "Welcome back!" to the "Children's Hour" last week. I am very glad to be with you again and able to talk to you and listen to you once more. I shall be much pleased to receive letters from each and every one of the boys and girls who read the Bee, and your nice letters will all be printed.

Our first letter this week is from a little boy only six years old. I am glad to hear from him. The other letters are welcome, too, and I am interested in their bright, young writers.

The story of "The Missing Letter" is an original one, by a girl of thirteen. We are proud to have such a contributor to our "Children's Hour" and I hope that she will favor us again. Don't you hope so, too, children?

Send all your letters or stories to Peter Buzzer, care Bee, Toledo, O.

Ever Your Friend,
PETER BUZZER.

A Hallow-e'en Boy.

Dear Buzzer:

I am a little boy, six years old, my birthday comes on Hallow-e'en and I have lots of fun then.

I go to school and have to study.

I like to read the letters from the little boys and girls in the Children's Hour. CHARLEY KING.

Whitehouse, O.

A very nice little letter. Come again, Charley. P. B.

A Girl Who Likes Pets.

Dear Peter Buzzer:

I would like to tell you about my nice pets. I am very fond of them and thought that perhaps the boys and girls who read the Children's Hour might like to read about them.

I have a dog and a cat. Their names are Tiny and Tabby. I play with the cat and dress it in my doll's clothes.

I take my dog out all the time and my cat likes to follow him. I don't like to have the cat follow me, as I fear some other dog might hurt it. Your little friend,

Oxford, Pa. MAGGIE B.

A King's Daughter.

Mr. Buzzer: I have just read an interesting letter, written by one of the King's Daughters, and as I belong to that order, I was very much interested in it and in the description of her work. I had never heard of the Every-Day Ten, but think their work a very noble one—that of cheering and comforting the Shut Ins. How beautiful it is to bring sunshine and hope to the poor afflicted ones! Our mission, that of taking care of the altar, is not half so ennobling, though we do it cheerfully. Every Saturday afternoon two of us go to the church and arrange the altar cloths and flowers for Sunday's services. Last Saturday afternoon was friend Irene C.'s and my turn, and we filled the vases with roses and geraniums, and wreathed the crosses with red and yellow naturtium. Our text is, "Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." My sister Winifred is a member of the Obedient Ten. I was confirmed one year ago. I love to attend the early celebrations. I am very fond of reading, and am now reading The Prince of the House of David, by J. H. Ingraham. This city is a very pretty place of about 5,000 inhabitants, situated on the Boise river, and surrounded by mountains. In summer it looks almost like a grove, there are so many tall green trees. Last summer I went with papa to Salt Lake City. We spent half a day at the lake, and had great fun watching the bathers and rowing about on the water. I have studied music for several years, and am very fond of it. I think Chopin is my favorite composer. His music seems so inspiring.

STOUT-HEARTED WOMEN.

What They Have Done to Help in Developing the West.

The life of the west is one to induce heroism on the part of both men and women. The latter are often left alone for days in the little sod cabins or in the dug-outs that dot the hillsides along the water courses. They learn to be self-reliant and strong-natured. There are in every settlement events recorded any one of which would in Massachusetts, New York or Ohio give the actor a state-wide reputation, but which in the far west are not thought of seriously. With the difficulties of outlaws, Indians, and the terrific forces of nature to combat, it is remarkable that more tragedies do not occur. But women of the plains realized when they come from the old homes in the east that they were coming to face hardship and danger, and the elements of bravery in their nature come out strongly, and whenever the test came there was the hearty and hardy spirit to meet it. Much as the men have done, the women have done more, and the wives and daughters deserve all possible credit. Here and there a deed stands out in relief, but for the most part the stories of the heroines are confined to their immediate neighborhoods and never reach the outside world.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

SAFE AND EFFECTIVE.

Brandreth's Pills purify the blood, stimulate the liver, strengthen the kidneys, regulate the bowels. They were introduced in the United States in 1835. Since that time over sixty millions of boxes of Brandreth's Pills have been used.

This, together with thousands of convincing testimonials from all parts of the world, is positive evidence of their value. Brandreth's Pills are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

FEBRUARY.

According to the almanac
Old Winter now is on the rack,
Preparing, so they say, to pack
Its grip.
The poets now in vernal gush
Do dip their pens, and with the lush,
Of tribute odes, and kindred mush,
Do drip.

At intervals a hint of Spring
In mid-air pose is lingering,
Of "broken back" the prophets sing
En masse.
Anon, howe'er, or sooner yet,
The hours a blizzard do beget
And prophecies are all upset—
Alas!

In fact, tho' April holds the key
To equinoxes, Old Feb. can be
As full of fickleness, and we Admit
That she of divers moods partakes,
Drops on us soothing smiles and shakes,
And as a weather juggler makes
A hit.

—Boston Courier.

RIGHT OR WRONG.

Which will ye have? It does seem as if some folks prefer to have the last condition of the liver rather than the first. They perpetually dose themselves with purgatives totally without virtue as alterative of liver trouble. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the successful candidate for the people's choice, and yet, popular and well known as it is, there are unfortunates who keep on trying the drastic remedies of former days. It is to the intelligent portion of the public that the well known and long tried properties of the Bitters appeal. Reason should be guided by experience in the matter of medication. "The best guide to our feet is the lamp of experience," said a great patriot of the early revolutionary period, and the exclamation is pregnant with truth. For over a third of a century the Bitters daily has met with the endorsement of people suffering from liver complaint, malaria, constipation, rheumatism, debility and troubles accompanied by dyspepsia. Latterly it has declared itself and been thoroughly approved as a remedy for "la grippe."

We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

EXAMINING COMMITTEE

On the County Commissioners' Annual Report

Submit Their Findings to the Common Pleas Court,

And Criticise and Commend as Their Judgment Permits — The Document in Full.

In the matter of the examination of the report of the board of commissioners of Lucas county for the year ending September 1, 1891.

To the Honorable Court of Common Pleas, Lucas county, Ohio:

The committee appointed to examine said report respectfully report that we find the same substantially correct except in the following particulars:

This report was filed on the 19th day of January, 1892, nearly four months after the time required by law. Section 917 of the Revised Statutes, requires that this report shall be filed on or before the third Monday in September of each year and makes the neglect to do so by the commissioners a penal offense for which the commissioners are individually liable to a fine not to exceed $100. The wisdom of this statutory requirement of promptness on the part of the commissioners in filing their report cannot be questioned and their neglect to comply with the law is extremely reprehensible. Much of the benefit to be derived from this annual examination is lost if the report is so late in being filed that nearly this annual examination is lost if the refore the report of the preceding year is passed upon.

We think a full compliance with the law in this respect should be insisted upon.

We further find in connection with the annual report that the commissioners are in the habit of paying for making the same out of the county fund. The amount paid is $100. This is clearly an illegal expenditure. It is as much a part of the commissioners' duty to make this report as it is to discharge any other of their official duties. Attention has been called to this matter before, but without effect. We think this illegal custom should cease at once, and that if repeated the prosecuting attorney should institute proceedings to recover back from the commissioners the money thus illegally paid out.

We find that in one instance $125, and in another instance $840, were paid by the commissioner as commission for selling bonds. The commissioners claim in justification of this that these bonds could not be disposed of in any other way. But this practice is clearly illegal, and is liable to gross abuse, and should under no circumstances be repeated.

We find that the cost of illuminating gas for the county jail for the year covered by the report was $500. These bills were paid by the commissioners apparently as a matter of form and without any question or investigation. The attention of the sheriff was called to the amount of these bills, and he was as much surprised as the committee. While the payment of these bills was not illegal, yet it is remarkable that bills to this amount for illuminating gas for the jail should have been paid by the commissioners without any question or investigation.

Section 4367 of the revised statutes gives to certain of the county officials a right to publish what in their opinion is of sufficient public importance to be published. We think that from the number and size of the bills paid for publications of this character that there is a tendency to abuse of this privilege. The committee are of the opinion that one publication a full compliance with this statute, and that further publications are unwarranted.

The committee further find that the telephone in the sheriff's office is frequently used for 'phoning to parties outside of the city, sometimes by the sheriff and often by other parties. These bills are handed by the sheriff to the commissioners and paid by them. We think that this practice is liable to great abuse and should be discouraged.

The committee have made a special and thorough examination of the coroner's bills rendered during the year. By section 1221 of the revised statutes it is provided "when information is given to any coroner that the body of any person whose death is supposed to have been caused by violence has been found within his county he shall forthwith appear, etc."

The committee is of the opinion that no inquest should be held, where the circumstances are such as to show that the death was not the result of criminal violence or criminal negligence.

The fee bill used by the coroner for the current year contains items which are illegal. Among others the following: The fee of $1 for what is termed in the bill "additional notification," all fees charged for docket entries and the fee for inventory of property when no property is found on the body.

Section 1255 of the Revised Statutes requires the clerk of the common pleas court to make an index of pending suits and living judgments. Section 1257 provides that he shall receive the same compensation for this as for indexing judgments. By section 1260 it is provided that the clerk shall receive 15 cents for indexing judgments in each case, and this fee is taxed in the costs of the case. By section 1253 it is provided that the clerk shall keep a general index of judgments, and that he shall receive 8 cents for indexing each cause, and this fee is paid out of the county treasury. By the construction placed upon section 1255 by the clerk he charges twice for indexing pending suits and twice for indexing living judgments. One charge of 15 cents for indexing living judgments and 15 cents for indexing pending suits, which is taxed in the cost bill against the parties in court and another charge of 8 cents for living judgments and 8 cents for pending suits which is charged to the county. In this way the same work is paid for twice, once by the parties in the suit and again by the county. The bills for this indexing have been regularly rendered to the county since 1889, when the law was passed, and have been as regularly paid by the commissioners. The clerk also construes the foregoing sections that he determines the number of causes by the number of parties in the suit, which, it will at once be seen, adds largely to the amount of costs. There is grave doubt as to the correctness of the construction placed upon the foregoing sections by the clerk. This is a question which involves the expenditure of several hundred dollars annually by the county, and we think it is of sufficient importance to the taxpayers of Lucas county to warrant its submission by the commissioners to the court for judicial determination.

The irregularities in the statements and charges of the county surveyor, of which the examining committee of last year complained, are found to a considerable extent in the present report. The commissioners have undertaken reform in this department and in some measure have succeeded, for which they are to be commended and congratulated. But there is a wide field here still for reform. We are of the opinion too wide a field of discretion has been allowed the surveyor, and not sufficient personal attention has been given by the commissioners to the work done for the county. The county surveyor has been in the habit of making what is called plats of sections of the improved roads. These so-called plats consist of about fifty diagrams of cross sections of each section or mile of the road. These diagrams show the contour of the road, before graded and after being graded. These maps have been paid for by the commissioners on the line basis, and at an expense of about $35 per map, and each map covers but one mile of the road. The committee is unable to see of what practical use these alleged plats can be, but if they are found by the commissioners to be needful they could certainly be made at an expense not to exceed one-tenth of their present expense, if made at a per diem rate.

We again call attention to the extravagance of some of the county officers, in the purchasing or supplies for their offices. We think the power conferred by the statute in this regard is in many instances grossly abused. We commend some of the county officers in this regard, especially the county recorder, whose expense accounts are entirely modest.

We are glad to note a very great improvement in the business methods of the infirmary board, in their relation with the commissioners. Vouchers are now furnished the board of commissioners for each item in the bill. These vouchers, however, in some instances are too indefinite, and their form should be improved. There should also be some indorsement with the vouchers, to show that the infirmary board approve them before they are submitted or allowed by the commissioners.

Respectfully submitted.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

The Postoffice to Go into a New Business.

An Important Bill Introduced in Washington by Representative Storer, of Ohio.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Representative Storer, of Ohio, has introduced a bill in the house authorizing the postmaster-general to designate postoffices as postal saving depositaries to receive deposits and to provide for the repayment of the same to depositors, or their legal representatives, by regulations to be prescribed by himself. The postmaster-general shall furnish and keep on sale at the depositaries adhesive stamps of denominations of 5 and 10 cents and one dollar to be known as postal savings stamps, and provide for their sale at the cost thereof postal saving cards upon which such stamps shall be sold.

The postmasters at depositaries shall, at the end of every calendar month, make detailed reports to an officer of the treasury, of all postoffice saving funds received by them during the preceding month and furnish the postmaster-general with a copy of the report. They shall deposit the money from the fund in national banks authorized by the secretary of the treasury to receive the same.

The postmaster-general is to issue non-negotiable interest-bearing certificates of deposits of the denomination of $10, $20, $50, and $100 each, bearing interest at the rate of 1.825 per centum per annum. These certificates shall be issued to persons making deposits of the amounts named. The secretary of the treasury is authorized to make loans to banks wherein postal savings are deposited. Deposits are limited to $300 per year, except to associations for benevolent purposes, or associations for loan and building beneficial purposes, and these deposits are limited to $2,000 a year.

MESABA IRON RANGE.

An Era of Prosperity is Certainly Ahead.

The Greatest Finds for Years Are Being Brought to the Surface—Excitement at a High Pitch.

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 19.—Upon invitation A. E. Humphrey about thirty prominent residents of this city visited Mesaba iron range yesterday. A train of an engine and two business cars left the Union depot for Mesaba. Arriving there sleighs were taken and a visit of inspection made to the Cincinnati, Canton, Hale, Pewable, Kanawha, McKinley, and other valuable properties.

Results shown in the workings and on the "dumps" demonstrate the fact that the greatest finds for years have been made, and that the present excitement in iron stock is fully warranted.

Most specimens shown will run from 60 to 65 per cent. and the ore lies in most cases so close to the surface as to bear out the claims that it can be mined for between fifteen cents and fifty cents per ton.

This city is alive with iron men from the east, all of whom are of the opinion that an era of unexampled prosperity is about to dawn on the northwest in general and Duluth and Superior in particular. On every hand is heard talk of development in the iron regions and buying and selling of stocks. Much interest is manifested by people of all classes.

As to Feathers.

If the feathers from all sources on the farm should be carefully cared for and sold they would amount to a neat little sum in the course of a year. While geese and duck feathers are preferable, yet there is a demand for chicken feathers, when properly assorted. In doing this the shorter and softer feathers should be put by themselves and cured either in the sun and air or by artificial heat. It is very necessary to cure the green feathers in order to keep them from spoiling at the quills and yielding a bad odor that might ruin the whole lot. We priced some pillows in a furnishing house and were considerably set back at the price asked for them. Three dollars for a couple of pillows that weighed only four pounds and the feathers were only second class at that. The best quality of fresh home-grown, put up in factory at Nashville, were quoted much higher. The first quotation was on pillows made in Chicago and simply guaranteed to emit no unpleasant odor. The feathers in them felt bunchy and harsh. Prime geese feathers bring 50 to 70 cent a pound. White or Pekin duck feathers sell nearly as high as geese feathers.—Ex.

He further recommended the following officers for permanent organization: For president, B. M. Weil, Milwaukee; secretary, W. M. Kline, Nashville; treasurer, Wm. B. Cutter, Buffalo.

The report was adopted.

President B. M. Weil then took the chair and in a most appropriate speech returned thanks for the office, accepting it.

Hon John Laughlin, of Buffalo, extended an invitation to hold the convention there next October. Hendricks, of Atlanta, and Crawford, of Velasco, Tex., also extended invitations. McCausland, of East St. Louis, followed with an invitation. When the vote was taken Buffalo was overwhelmingly selected as the place for the next convention.

The following board of control was appointed: J. M. Williams, Nashville; J. T. Lombard, Chicago; H. H. Hill, Buffalo; J. G. Hendricks, Atlanta; H. H. Cushing, Toledo; J. T. Fraser, Louisville; A. D. Agnew, Milwaukee; E. C. Holiday, Duluth; O. W. Crawford, Texas.

At the afternoon session the roll of states was called and the following vice presidents elected: J. L. Hiuton, Arkansas; S. G. Wood, Atlanta; Malcomb Neil, Chicago; H. E. Rood, Evansville; J. A. Webb, Iowa; S. S. Meddis, Louisville; H. A. Moore, Kansas; E. R. Pierce, St. Louis; R. H. Potter, New York; C. E. Lavett, Duluth; J. B. Turley, Tennessee; O. W. Crawford, Texas; W. J. Morgan, Wisconsin.

The presentation of important papers was continued. "The Mission of the Real Estate Agent," by S. G. Sherwood, of Buffalo, was read, followed by a paper on "Local Real Estate Boards," by George E. Pomeroy, of Toledo, O.

This brought about much enthusiastic discussion, almost the entire delegation taking part. Questions were freely asked and much instructive information gleaned.

On motion the convention adjourned until 9 o'clock to-morrow.

A CORNER IN WHEAT.

Another Big Deal Reported in Existence.

The Western Wheat Crop Sold Twice Over in the Last Few Days, and Somebody is Going to Suffer.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—The Tribune says there are strong indications that the wheat market is being manipulated and intimates that J. D. Rockefeller, of the Standard Oil company, James T. North, the "Nitrate King," and John W. Mackay, the bonanza millionaire, are back of it.

The paper claims that sales of wheat on the Chicago board of trade alone aggregate 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 bushels, whereas there are less than 40,000,000 bushels of actual wheat in the west, leaving about 40,000,000 bushels which are really "wind" sales, and must be covered at whatever price the market touches.

But this is not all. Similar short sales have been made in all of the principal markets in this country and in Liverpool. It is asserted that the alleged combination of multi-millionaires sent agents abroad and secured accurate information as to the real shortage in the crop and, as early as the middle of December, began to quietly pick up all the wheat offered, working through comparatively unknown brokers, traders who were accustomed to deal in small lots, and that they thus, without attracting attention, secured absolute control of the market. Whether or not the price will be to a high figure is known only to the clique.

The Bed Bug.

In hot weather he's about. To quickly and permanently rid your beds of bugs, put a small box of ROUGH ON RATS in a pint bottle of benzine, shake well when using. Douche the mixture into the cracks, crevices, holes and openings of the bedstead. It will turn their toes up rapidly. Then mix another small box of ROUGH ON RATS thoroughly with a quarter pound of lard, with this mixture fill all holes, openings, cracks and crevices in the bed. These two methods are warranted to never fail; to be effective and lasting. Cut this out.

AFTER THE GRIPPE.

The Grippe Responsible for More Deaths after Recovery than During Its Course—How to Avoid the Danger.

Grippe, in itself, is bad enough, debilitating enough, but it is the after effects, the slowness of recovery that give it its great danger. In most cases, the person did not have sufficient vitality to rally after the disease itself had passed. The forces of nature were too weak to contend with the debility which the Grippe had left.

It is sad to think how many people have died who might have been saved if nature had been properly assisted and fortified after the Grippe had been driven from the system. Many physicians realized this fact and assisted their patients over the dangerous after effects by bracing up and stimulating their systems. This was, and can be done in but one way, and that is by the steady and moderate use of some pure yet powerful stimulant. There is but one absolutely pure and medicinal stimulant known to the profession and to the public, and that is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. The most prominent scientists and physicians of the land endorse its purity and value. It is not a new whiskey, it has been before the public for years. It is not a cheap decoction, but a pure distillation. It imparts a tone to the system possible in no other manner and sends the blood coursing through the veins with renewed vigor. It is superior in every respect and however much any unscrupulous druggist or grocer may seek to lead you to believe to the contrary do not be deceived.

BIGGEST UMBRELLA IN THE WORLD.

It is said that the biggest umbrella in the world has been made for the use of a West African king.

The umbrella, which can be closed in the usual manner, is 21 feet in diameter, and is affixed to a polished mahogany staff of the same length.

The canopy is made of India straw, and has a score of straw tassels and a border of crimson satin.

On the top is a pine-shaped straw ornament which terminates in a gilded cone. When in use the umbrella is fixed in the ground, and under its shelter the king is able to entertain 30 guests at dinner.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

TILLAMOCK TO THE RESCUE.

The other day some practical joker sent a dispatch to the quiet little town of Tillamock, Me., saying that the Baltimore had been sunk in Chilean waters, and that in consequence war with Chile had been declared. Without stopping to remember that the Baltimore was no longer in Chilean waters the news was spread all over the country, and in a short time posters were printed and hung up in most conspicuous places: "All patriotic citizens are requested to meet at the court house this evening at 7:30. Let Tillamock be not behind in upholding the dignity of the flag." Before the meeting was held, however, it was learned that the startling report was a canard.—New York Tribune.

WHERE IS HEAVEN?

"What is heaven?"
"Child, how can I tell
Of the beauty that rests on 'the city of God?'
Mine eyes have not seen it; my feet have not trod
Its golden paved streets, set with jewels whose worth
Outshine and outvalue the jewels of earth.
And what is heaven? I know only this:
'Tis the birthplace of glory, the essence of bliss."

"Where is heaven?"
"Dear, how do I know?
We gaze into space through the blue throbbing air,
Sun-crowned and star-gemmed, and we say:
'It is there.'
Above, and beyond us, more high and more high,
God's palace, whose floor is our beautiful sky,
And where is heaven? I know only this:
'Tis the hope of all ages, wherever it is."

GIBSON OF MARYLAND.

He is a Lucky Man, and a Bit Superstitious.

If any senator was asked "What senator's name ought to be spelled l-u-c-k?" there isn't a shadow of a doubt but the answer would promptly be "Gibson of Maryland." If ever a man's career illustrated luck Senator Gibson's does, says the Washington Post. He's lucky in more ways than one, and particularly in the one direction that many an older man than he would be glad to have the same good fortune, that is, he is lucky in not offending people whom he cannot conquer or conciliate. But in running for office he makes the best showing, and has seldom failed to win what he was after.

When Gov. Jackson appointed him senator that was luck, but no one would have felt like placing very heavy odds on his being elected senator. When it began to look that way everybody said: "Yes, Charley Gibson always was lucky," and a few days before the election, when Gibson himself was asked if he believed in his own luck, he declared a most intense trust in it.

"Do you have a mascot?"

"No, but I carry a rabbit's foot."

The senator wears a gold chain, running from the vest pocket on one side to that on the other; on one end is a handsome gold watch. From the other pocket he pulled a bunch of keys, a gold pencil and a little silver tube, from one end of which projected the soft fur of a rabbit's foot.

"That was given to me ten years ago by a little colored chap, who killed the rabbit in a churchyard. I've carried it ever since, and you see I'm called lucky," said the senator.

"Do you believe in it?"

"Well," with a laugh, "you see I carry it carefully."

In another week Gibson's election to the senate from the state of Maryland surprised a good many people who had not calculated on it.
